ANP clatch set in Belleville

A special "Coffee Clatch" will be sponsored by Associated Newspapers from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 7 at the Belleville Enterprise office, 116 Fourth St., Belleville.

Managing Editor Dennis G. Fassett will host the community forum which will be for readers of the Enterprise and Romulus Roman newspapers.

Coffee and donuts will be served while interested local citizens discuss with the managing editor and other writers of the newspaper how to more effectively communicate news to the public.

Lee Smith, suburban living editor for both papers and Jim Bradley, reporter and writer of "On the Brighter Side" column, plan to be on hand for the exchange of ideas.

In addition, Diane Ferguson, the Enterprise's excellent receptionist and all-around head of the Belleville Enterprise office, will also share her ideas how to better get your news into the paper.

The Coffee Clatch will be limited to the first 15 people in the Belleville-Romulus areas who call Mrs. Ferguson at 697-9191 and ask for a free reservation to the community forum.

It would be a good idea for those planning to attend to write down questions they'd like to ask or suggestions they'd like to make.

Working together, we can make a better community.

Bikeway route being studied

The Department of State Highways and Transportation is re-examining its design on the bikeway along I-275 Freeway in Romulus following an appearance by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) before the State Highway Commission.

Mahalak told the commission recently that changes were needed to improve the safety of a one-mile-long section of the bikeway at the interchange of I-275 and I-94.

"It is too close to the freeway at some points and it crosses driveways and a railroad track," he said. "I'm also concerned about electric power lines and a gas pipe line in the area, as well as a section of the bikeway that goes through an unlighted underpass."

With Mahalak at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Diepenhorst, whose property at 36836 Northline Rd. in Romulus borders the bikeway. They voiced concerns about drainage from the bikeway area, possible loss of trees and vegetation and the location of property lines.

Circuit Judge William J. Giovan issued an injunction Aug. 28, suspending work on the bikeway and allowing an opportunity for those objecting to the design to air their arguments in court. The injunction has been extended to this week.

Meanwhile, members of the state non-motorized advisory board also are expected to take another look at the design.

Mayor, predecessor hurl charges

Mayoral election heats up; state audits city records

A mayoral candidate's request for a state audit of the City of Romulus has been granted and state auditors have been busy the past two weeks examining the financial books.

According to officials of the finance department of Romulus, it is not a complete audit, but is zeroing in on specific areas. The investigation is under the direction of Allen F. Auch, supervisor of special assignments, local audit division of the State Department of the Treasury.

Former Mayor Terry L. Troutt asked for the state audit, charging the present city administration with spending tax money on junkets by officials and with illegally borrowing money from sewer and water funds.

Troutt's audit request came during the recent primary mayoral campaign and was labelled "campaign garbage" by Mayor James C. Stewart, who was subsequently defeated in his bid for reelection.

Stewart said at that time that he would welcome a state audit anytime. He has since produced a list of 10 alleged improprieties that Troutt is supposed to have done while he was mayor from 1973-75.

Although a representative from the state treasurer's office said the department honors most requests to look into the propriety or legality of city spending, Romulus Councilman Jimmie C. Raspberry heartily disagrees.

"I'd like to know how Mr. Troutt can get an audit almost immediately while I have made three requests for a state audit, with City Council approval, over the past three years and still have not been able to get one," Raspberry inquired.

"I have been to Lansing, written letters and been in touch with several people and been promised some action, but nothing has been done. State Rep. Edward Mahalak told me in Lansing that my request for a state audit would be honored when I talked to him this past spring," Raspberry explained.

Mahalak has visited city hall during the present audit and is reported by Raspberry and other local officials to be a strong backer of Troutt and his slate.

Meanwhile, the annual audit of the city's books, as required by law, must be completed by Dec. 31 and finance department officials were scheduled to request council for that audit at last night's meeting.

Grant puts model farm in Wayne

Key officials view an artist's drawing of a 26-acre educational complex, featuring a model farm, which will be constructed through a $4.7 million federal public works grant. The complex, to be located in the city of Wayne, is a joint project of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service and the Wayne County Intermediate School

$4.7 Million farm to serve area

A new and modern $4.7 million learning center and model farm scheduled for completion in 1979 on a 26-acre tract of land in Wayne will make the community the agricultural showplace of Western Wayne County.

To be located next to the Intermediate School District's education center on Van Born Road, the model farm is being built as a combined venture of the Wayne County Intermediate School District and the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service (WCES).

Funds for construction of the novel project, which will teach future generations all about farm life, will come from a federal grant provided by the Economic Development Administration. Local officials were told last week by U.S. Rep. William Ford (D-15th) that the funding had been approved.

Donald Juchartz, WCES director, emphasized that the model crops are produced now that America has entered into a more urban-oriented society.

Included in the revolutionary project will be a house, a barn, a windmill, two ponds and orchards. Lectures and demonstrations will be given in the barn, which will feature arena-type seating, while a 250-seat auditorium in the two-story office-classroom building also will be used for similar activities.

The Intermediate School District will use about half of the larger building for offices and classrooms for in-service training and other civic functions.

The new agricultural complex will serve a variety of purposes, Juchartz said, including activities involved with the Extension Service's programs dealing with 4-H, family living and gardening.

Various types of grass and shrubbery will be grown to help visitors determine what kind is most suitable for their needs.

Pollution control demonstrations will be given at the two ponds, and part-time farmers will be shown sample plots of crops to illustrate yield and quality.

To accommodate the anticipated half-million visitors each year, the complex will have a 500-car paved parking lot.

From 1979 on, there will always will be "a little bit of the country" in the city of Wayne.

New group to present school facts

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School Board members have moved to close a credibility gap between themselves and the public.

They voted unanimously at a special meeting last week to accept Doug Baum's idea of an 11-member fact-finding committee which would work as a liaison group in disseminating correct information to all residents of Romulus.

"There are so many false rumors going around the school district that our first job will be to get the facts to all the people," said Baum, who is a funeral director in Romulus.

"We will be a fact-finding group which will meet with school administrators and later with the school board. We want to study the audit and other financial records to see if there are any discrepancies and to find out, indeed, if we do need the 8.5 mills additional operating levy."

Baum explained that the study was in no way a reflection on the honesty and integrity of the school board. "There definitely is a shortage of money and we need to find out if it's being spent in the most efficient way."

Baum said his group would try to get some kind of tentative agreement with the teachers so they would know how much would go for salaries and what school programs would be restored if the millage passed.

At the special school board meetings the last two Thursdays, which each drew approximately 800 residents to Romulus High School auditorium, many parents asked to know what would and would not be implemented if the millage passed.

Baum added, "If anyone in the community has any kind of questions or information that would help, we want them to call one of our committee members."

The fact-finding committee is made up of a cross-section of area residents, including: Baum, (phone 941-9200); Mrs. Effie Beenum (721-0679), Cyril Bird (no relation to REA President Terry Bird) (941-1037), Bob Daniels (941-3415), Mrs. Noreen DePalma (941-5159), Dan Doss (941-3914), Mrs. Ellen Grishaber (941-9049), Jesse Kitchens (941-5537), David Rakotz (941-3269), Mrs. Lynn Slaughter (941-4821) and Virgil Smith (941-5589).

Baum said his committee put out a plea to all political candidates, asking them not to use the school issue as a political football.

Local woman quietly aids schools

There are several groups of parents in Romulus who have banded together to do something about the schools in the city.

But a woman who has moved quietly as an individual may be in a position to accomplish the most of all.

Mrs. Sandra Langley, a young mother, has written to state education officials in Lansing and has procured a meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow between them and several local officials and representatives.

Mrs. Langley calls it a "learning session". "I've received great cooperation from education officials in Lansing and Dr. E. J. O'Leary of the State Dept. of Education," Mrs. Langley said.

"Who says you can't get state officials to listen to you? We have received a great deal of support from them. They answered my letter to them and have proven to be very willing to listen," she said.

Accompanying Mrs. Langley to Lansing for tomorrow's meeting will be Supt. James Garfield, a couple members of the school board and possibly several other Romulus residents.

"I call it a learning session because we have several important questions we want answered," Mrs. Langley said. "We have also received cooperation from Mr. Garfield in our efforts to receive answers to questions which concern all Romulus parents."

Mrs. Langley said the meeting with state education officials has been in the planning stage for a couple of weeks but that she didn't want to mention it before now. She felt it might hinder other efforts being made by other groups.

"I've been sitting in on Doug Baum's committee sessions and have been letting him know the progress of our situation also," she said. Baum's 11-member fact-finding committee was recently approved by the school board.

"We're not trying to circumvent Mr. Baum's committee, or make a big deal of this for ourselves. We just want to quietly go to Lansing and ask officials for answers to some serious questions," Mrs. Langley said.

According to the concerned mother, she sent home hundreds of information leaflets with children from various schools. She praised the local administrators for their assistance in helping get the information into the hands of parents.

"We've received fine cooperation from everyone we've worked with and we want to thank them."

One of the main questions Mrs. Langley wants answered is what would happen to the Romulus School District if it did run until all the money was gone and had to close its doors.

She also wants to know about what happens during recall procedures and a host of other inquiries that have been compiled with input from concerned parents.

"Our main goal is to have a learning session with state officials," she repeated. "We want to be good listeners, learn the facts and then act responsibly."

"Too many people act before they have all the information," she said.

Tomorrow's learning session will include several officials of the State Dept. of Education in various branches of learning which will give Mrs. Langley and the others answers to their wide-ranging list of questions.

Mrs. Langley said those who sit in on tomorrow's Lansing meeting will bring the answers back for all the residents of Romulus to know.

Metroparks display autumn

The brilliant streaks of autumn color gradually are moving across southeastern Michigan and into the Huron-Clinton metroparks, serving the citizens of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. The best color is expected now through Oct. 16.

Here are the parks and their attractions:

—Stony Creek Metropark, 3,500 acres, is located six miles north of Utica, with the entrance on 26 Mile Road west of the M-53 Freeway. The rolling, hilly countryside usually is abundant with fall color. Goldenrods and asters brighten the fields within the park.

Park roads provide an excellent view of the blazing orange clumps of sassafras trees visible on the east side of the park, while equally vivid are the red hues of oaks and sumacs and the yellow of hickory and aspen. Native white pines offer the green foliage of evergreens as a contrast to the vivid colors of the deciduous trees. Virginia creepers will change from green to yellow, to red and then to brown as we pass through autumn. Several vantage points overlook Stony Creek Lake, adding to the beauty of the open land. Fall also is a wonderful time to walk along one of the park's nature trails.

Park facilities also include scenic drives, bike trail, boat launching, fishing in Stony Creek Lake, picnic areas, playfields and nature center. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. For details call 781-4242 (Washington exchange).

—Kensington Metropark, 4,300 acres near Milford, has easy access from the I-96 Freeway and is one of the most beautiful areas for fall color.

Sumac, Virginia creeper, dogwood and sassafras provide early fall color, followed by aspen, oak and ash, which bring new hues to the hills surrounding Kent and Wildwing lakes. Canada Geese inhabit the lakes and Kingfisher Lagoon, where the geese often seek a "handout" from park visitors. Several miles of winding park roadway provide a colorful drive through the hilly countryside.

Facilities include bike trail, boating and fishing, picnic areas and playfields, an 18-hole golf course, with food service at the starter building, natural trails and nature center and boat rental service. Park hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. For details call 685-1561 (Milford).

One of the newest attractions in southeastern Michigan is Kensington Children's Farm in Kensington Metropark. Visitors can see a working farm, barn, pet farm animals, watch the making of cider and enjoy boat rides, hay rides or a train ride. Hours for the general public are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday with special group reservations during the week. Admission charges are children, $1 and adults, $1.50, plus additional charges for rides and special discount book available.

The Farm House Inn Restaurant is open Tuesday through Sundays—closed Mondays. Hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

—Lower Huron Metropark, 1,500 acres near Belleville, offers the changing of colors of sumac, black maple, redbud, pin oak, cottonwood and sassafras. A wide variety of colorful trees make a leisurely drive through Lower Huron Park an experience of great visual impact. Both sides of the road are bordered by tall maples, oaks and beeches followed by redbud trees, moraine lucusts and green ash, which will turn yellow in the fall.

As cars pass over the Huron River, visitors can catch a glimpse of golden leaves of elm and cottonwoods reflected in the water, plus yellow-mantled redbuds and in the fields are goldenrod and wild asters. Picnic areas, playfields, tot lot, nature trails and Par 3 golf course are open daily. Park hours are sunrise to 10 p.m. For details call 697-9181 (Belleville). The park entrance is along Hannan Road via Haggerty Road exit from the I-94 Freeway.

—Willow Metropark, 1,500 acres, is located between New Boston and Flat Rock. This new park has picnic areas, a roadway winding throughout the site, playfields and tot lot and riverbank fishing. Several small woodlots and hedge rows have a variety of trees and shrubs that are very colorful in late September or early October. The trees and fields provide an excellent habitat for fall flowers and migrating song birds. Park hours are sunrise to 10 p.m. The park entrance is a long Willow Road, about two miles east of Waltz Road and about a mile from Huron River Drive on the east.

—Oakwoods Metropark, 1,500 acres near Flat Rock, is primarily devoted to a nature interpretive area, with several nature trails labelled for "self-guided" hikes and a nature center with several seasonal exhibits. There is much fall color along the 2½-mile road leading to the nature study area. Other facilities include a picnic area, shore fishing site and playfields. The park entrance is along Willow Road near the junction of Huron River Drive, four miles northwest of Flat Rock. For details call 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

—Marshbank Metropark, 115 acres, is southwest of Pontiac and open weekends. It has a good view of Cass Lake, with some color through the park. The entrance is on Hiller Road, a quarter mile north of Commerce Road. Call 685-1561 (Milford).

County halts decision on sale of building

A decision on possibly transferring responsibilities of the Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital to the State was postponed when union officials asked for time to prepare a presentation opposing the proposal.

Sitting at the Ways and Means Committee Sept. 15, the County Board of Commissioners delayed consideration of two resolutions which would authorize the board chairman and the county auditors "to immediately commence negotiations" for the transfer.

Ways and Means Chairman Samuel A. Turner said the delay honors a request from Local 25, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), for more time to prepare a presentation against the move. AFSCME 25 represents the County General Hospital and Health Department employees, about 50 of whom attended the Ways and Means Committee meeting in protest.

Under the proposed transfer, part of a fiscal recovery plan to relieve what is called the worst financial crisis in county history, the state would buy the Walter P. Reuther Memorial Building at Eloise for use as a psychiatric hospital.

The 240 long term care patients now in the Reuther Building would then be switched to the General Hospital Building, thus removing the county from the business of treating mental patients.

The plan reportedly would save the county about $9 million per year and increase the number of beds available for psychiatric treatment at Eloise from 124 to 350.

Along with the transfer, most county employees of the Psychiatric Hospital would become state employees.

Robert R. Updike, president of Local 25, was one of seven employees who spoke at the meeting against the proposed change.

Edison to ease farm bill

Detroit Edison is offering farm operations in its service area a reduction in total monthly electric billings, under provisions approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

"This applies to domestic service rate farm customers whose present electrical use exceeds an average of 1,500 kilowatts per hour (kwh) per month," said Robert L. Maddex, Michigan State University Extension agricultural engineer.

According to the provision, "customers taking service under this rate schedule, who, in addition to normal household requirements use energy purchased for various farm operations, may elect to take service under this Farm Service Provision".

Edison customers who qualify will be charged 4.15 cents per kwh, plus fuel and purchased power adjustments for all energy bought. Farmers applying for the provision also must certify in writing that they are full-time operators of the farm.

Current domestic service rates are:

—$2.50 per month service charge;

—3.85 cents per kwh for the first 500 kwh;

—4.15 cents per kwh for the next 500 kwh; and

—4.45 cents for the excess of more than 1,000 kwh.

The Farm Service Provision is $2.50 per month service charge and 4.15 cents per kwh for all kwh used.

Farmers who think they qualify for the new rate now in effect should contact their local Detroit Edison office for details.

Stemming from firing

Mrs. Carter denies allegations

The urban renewal director whose job was eliminated by Mayor James C. Stewart has disputed all allegations of any wrong doing on her part.

Mrs. Mary Carter, candidate for City Council on the Terry Troutt slate, categorically denied three charges leveled against her by spokesmen for Mayor Stewart.

Although Stewart was on vacation and not available for comment on his elimination of Mrs. Carter's job, other members of his administration accused Mrs. Carter of three alleged misdeeds.

They reportedly charged that she (1) used phones at the urban renewal center to get residents out to vote for the Troutt slate; (2) campaigned on city time; and (3) permitted Troutt signs to be illegally placed on public housing units.

She also denied a report that an audit has just been completed on the urban renewal department.

"The last audit was for a 27-month period ending March 31, 1976," Mrs. Carter said.

She also answered the other three charges. "Neither myself or anyone from my staff used phones at the urban renewal center for the purpose of getting voters to the polls," she insisted. "I don't even make personal phone calls from the center for my own use, and I'll be glad to produce the phone bills to prove it to anyone."

She said she didn't drive and didn't have a car, so she spent all her working day at the urban renewal center.

"As far as having political signs on public housing units, there is no city, state or federal law which prohibits that," she said. "You can check with George Hagen, general counsel with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Washington on that if you want."

"People who rent public housing units have the same rights and privileges as any other renter or owner of a private home in the city."

Mrs. Carter, who has worked for Romulus in some capacity or other since 1959, claims she was fired by Stewart because he was mad at losing out in the primary election to Troutt and William Oakley.

On the other hand, Stewart claims the urban renewal department is being phased out in a few months and that most of the work is completed. City engineers and lawyers can do the rest, he added.

Township files suit over lake pollution

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Investigative work by two young college students has given Van Buren Township officials the evidence they need to file a lawsuit against three communities they allege are polluting Belleville Lake.

As a result of the sleuthing by David Barber, township aquatics director, and his friend, Russ McQuaid both 19 years old, Van Buren filed suit Friday demanding three upstream communities and two state agencies clean up the recreational lake.

In the suit, filed before Judge John M. Wise in Wayne County Circuit Court, the township charges the township of Ypsilanti, the cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Water Resources Commission with neglect in contaminating Belleville Lake.

Van Buren Supervisor Pat Cullin is pleased that Wayne County Department of Health finally agrees with her belief that raw sewage is being dumped into Willow Run Creek which empties into Belleville Lake.

"For quite a long time, environmental control officials of this area pooh-poohed the idea that pollution was being dumped into Belleville Lake from upstream," Mrs. Cullin explained.

"I tried to get them to realize the dangers involved upstream and now I'm glad they've finally seen the light."

Mrs. Cullin added, "We got to the point where we felt we couldn't wait another year for corrections to be made. We've been taking our own samples for the past six or seven weeks and have had them analyzed."

Helping Mrs. Cullin to feel justified in her vigorous campaign to rid Belleville Lake of pollution was a recent letter from Perry Stearns, M.D., director for Wayne County Dept. of Health, to W. G. Turney, bureau chief of the DNR.

Dated Sept. 8, the letter read, in part, "With municipal and industrial waste treatment plants now discharging to Willow Creek, this tributary is one evident source of pollution of Belleville Lake."

"While recognizing the need for additional and improved waste water treatment systems for the Ypsilanti area, we vigorously oppose discharge to Willow Creek of effluent from the proposed new treatment plant."

'... we object to the construction of a new plant ...'

"That waste water treatment plant would be subject to upset; power outages, by-pass, human and mechanical failures and employees strikes; and there will be discharges of untreated or partially treated flow to the creek."

"The mouth of Willow Creek outlets to Belleville Lake less than one thousand feet from the Van Buren Township Beach."

"Sewage from the Ypsilanti service area should be treated in the Wayne County system or the effluent from the new waste water treatment plant should be discharged into Ford Lake. The latter approach would not inhibit the uses of Ford Lake as Washtenaw County officials have long discouraged its use for swimming or water skiing because of hazardous physical conditions."

"This would also provide one additional safeguard to Belleville Lake which is used extensively for swimming and water skiing. Water quality in Belleville Lake would then be closer to meeting the goals of P.L. 92-500 which is to make waters fishable and swimmable."

"Again, we object to construction of a new treatment plant upstream from Belleville Lake and request that you take actions necessary to prevent such construction."

Mrs. Cullin and other township officials and area residents have felt for some time that the pollution was coming from the Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor treatment plants upstream.

As a result, shortly after the July 22 ban on swimming and water skiing in Belleville Lake, Mrs. Cullin had Barber and McQuaid, both environmental students in college, collect their own samples of Willow Creek and other areas. The township paid to have the samples professionally analyzed by Environmental Research Group, Inc. of Ann Arbor.

The pair took samples three times a day, at 7 a.m., 5 p.m. and between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. the next morning. Their findings revealed that the "flow" in Willow Creek was a good deal faster on many of the nights when they made their midnight check.

This reporter accompanied Barber on one of his trips to take samples from Willow Creek. Usually the two worked together in gathering the samples, but Barber was alone the day he took me along.

He said he wasn't feeling well himself, and that McQuaid was home "sick", not feeling well enough to come along. When this reporter recommended they should be under a doctor's care, Barber responded that they had been for "about a week".

Coming in contact with the polluted water just three times a day, and only long enough to fill a three-inch bottle each time, had made them nauseous, weak and given them a headache.

Van Buren's lawsuit contends the conditions of the water are hazardous to the health, safety and welfare of local citizens. Barber and McQuaid can attest to that claim.

While alleging that the source of pollution comes from the three upstream communities, the lawsuit contends further that the state, through its agencies, has failed and neglected to prevent or curtail contamination of public water to the danger of human life in violation of state and federal laws.

Although there has been no price tag set on the damages Van Buren Township will ask because of lost business, they are asking the court to do three things.

Request the court to compel the defendants to institute remedial measures to restore Belleville Lake to its condition before it was polluted.

— Compel State of Michigan and its various agencies to supervise and control the operation of the sewage disposal systems of the three upstream communities, and — Render judgment for damages compensating Van Buren for injuries incurred by reason of the wrongs alleged in the lawsuit.

'Head Starters' sought

Applications now are being received for 3 and 4-year-old children for the Romulus Head Start Program for the 1977-78 school year.

Bill Smith is director of the project which is federally funded under the auspices of the Wayne County Intermediate School District for low income families, and for 3 and 4-year-olds with special needs.

"Through the program, parents and staff members work together to facilitate growth and development," Smith said. "The overall goal of Head Start is to bring about a greater degree of social and educational competence in young children."

Romulus provides two types of programs: —A center-based program for 4-year-olds in which the children come to school two days each week, and;

—A home-based program for 3-year-olds in which a teacher visits a child's home each week, and the children come to the center twice a month.

"The education component in each program provides individualized activities that are designed to stimulate the intellectual, social, emotional, and self-help development of each child," Smith said.

"It includes experiences in language and speech; concepts of mathematics and science; nutrition; size, shape, and time relationships; self-awareness and self care; human relationships and multi-cultural awareness."

"Health care and hot lunch programs are included in both programs," Smith pointed out.

Parents are encouraged to become involved in all parts of Head Start to enhance their role as the principal influence in their child's education and development.

"Parents often volunteer in their child's classroom and some work as paid employees of the program," he added.

Educational and social activities that parents help develop are part of the Head Start program.

A child is eligible for Romulus Head Start program if:

—The parents live in the Romulus School District;

—The child will be 3 or 4 years of age by Dec. 1, 1977;

—The child belongs to low-income family receiving public assistance or having annual income of not more than $5,600 for a family of four; or —The child has a learning or development problem, or is handicapped.

Applications are now being accepted at the Romulus Head Start Center, 11165 Olive St., Romulus. Further information can be obtained by calling Smith at 941-0610.

Paintbrush gets going "Operation Paintbrush," part of a city-wide cleanup campaign begun last May, is due to swing into operation this month, according to Joyce Palmer, project director.

Funded as part of a $37,000 federal Block Grant, the program provides free latex exterior house paint to Romulus senior citizens, handicapped residents and low and moderate income families.

In describing the guidelines for the program, Mrs. Palmer said senior citizens 65 years and older who are heads of households, will be given first priority. Also eligible are citizens who are physically disabled and those residents who earn less than $805 a month in providing for a family of six or more.

She cautioned that do to a limited supply of paint available, all eligible residents should contact her immediately at the Meadows Neighborhood center, 28327 Leroy, or by calling 941-1390.

"Citizens from throughout the city are encouraged to avail themselves of this program," she said. "But stressed that qualified applicants will be served on a first-come, first-served basis only."

"Operation Paintbrush is in need of people who will serve as volunteers to do the painting for those physically unable. Volunteers will be provided with brushes and rollers all other applicants must provide their own equipment," Mrs. Palmer added.

The 1,000-gallon supply is limited to white, yellow, dark brown and dark gray. Romulus residents unable to take advantage of the project this fall, will be placed on a waiting list for next spring.

A 'head start'

The College of Regents Committee of the Belleville Moose Lodge has donated $50 to the Head Start programs of Romulus and Sumpter Township. Presenting the check is Helen Jacobs (left), recording secretary for the Belleville Women of the Moose, to Bill Smith

Rep. Ford seeks reversal of Mudd conspiracy charge

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has joined in a request to President Carter to reverse the conspiracy conviction of Dr. Samuel Mudd, the physician who set the broken leg of John Wilkes Booths only hours after he had assassinated President Abraham Lincoln.

Congressman Ford and 24 other representatives and senators co-signed the letter to President Carter, asserting their belief that Dr. Mudd was entirely innocent of any role in the Lincoln assassination conspiracy.

The drive to clear Dr. Mudd's name has been led for many years by his grandson, Dr. Richard Mudd of Saginaw, who has spent some 50 of his 77 years in the effort.

Congressman Ford decided to join in signing the letter after a briefing by another Mudd relative, Curtis Mudd, formerly of Taylor, who served in Congressman Ford's office during the summer as a Congressional intern. Curtis is descended from Dr. Mudd's brother.

"Dr. Mudd was convicted after an unfair trial by a military commission, even though he was a civilian," Congressman Ford said. "There was no evidence that he played any role in the assassination, and his conviction apparently stemmed from the wave of mass hysteria which swept the nation after the assassination."

Congressman Ford, an attorney and former local judge, pointed out that Dr. Mudd was held for 19 days without formal charges, and was not permitted to obtain a lawyer until after his trial was under way.

Dr. Mudd lived in southern Maryland, not far from Washington, on the escape route that Booth used after shooting Lincoln in Ford's Theatre on April 14, 1865. Booth had broken his leg when he leaped from the Presidential Box onto the theatre's stage.

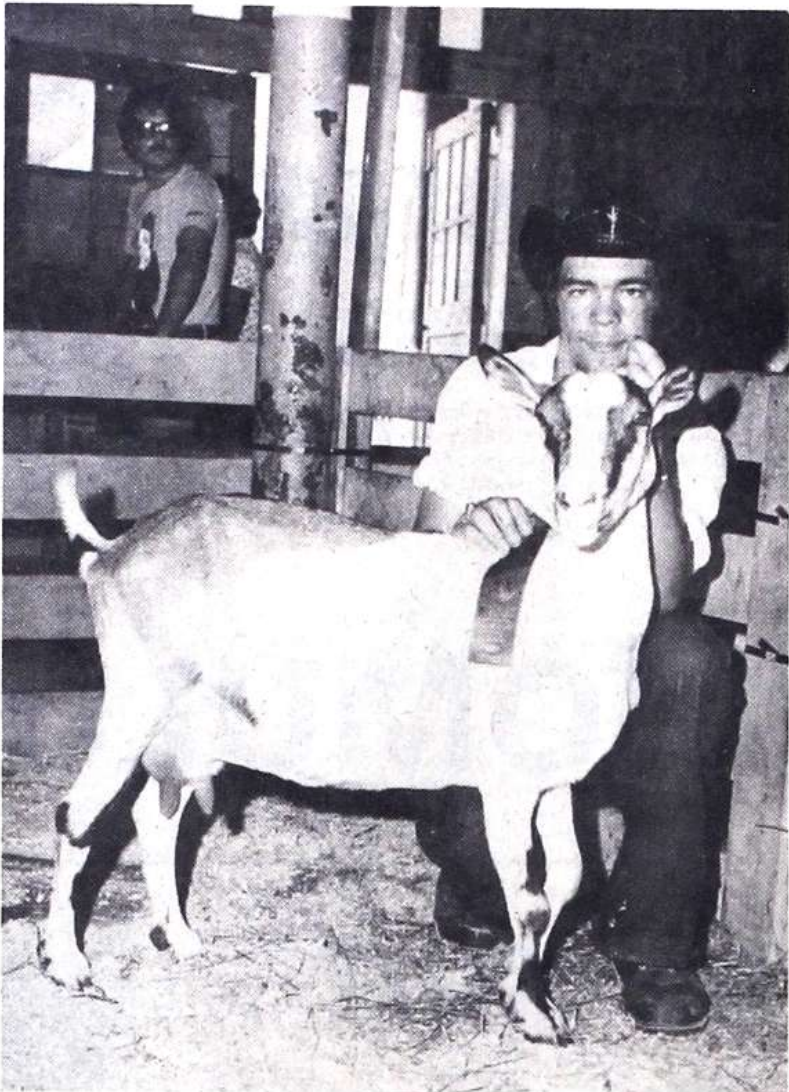

Fleeing on horseback with a companion, he stopped at Dr. Mudd's home to have the bone set, but both men wore disguises and used false names when they asked for treatment. Dr. Mudd treated the broken leg as would any doctor, then or now, Ford said.

The next day, after learning of the assassination, he became suspicious of his midnight patient, especially after his wife informed him that one of the strangers had obviously been wearing a fake beard. Dr. Mudd immediately reported to authorities that he had treated a man who might have been the assassin. Eight days later, Dr. Mudd was arrested.

Dr. Mudd was cruelly treated while awaiting trial; he was chained in a cell, his eyes and ears were packed with cotton, and his head was covered with a heavy canvas bag, Ford said.

Convicted of conspiracy in the assassination, Dr. Mudd was sentenced to life imprisonment, and was sent to Dry Tortugas Island off the Florida coast. He was later pardoned for heroism in fighting a yellow fever epidemic on the island.

"A pardon expresses forgiveness and does not show innocence," Congressman Ford noted. "That is why we are urging the President to reverse Dr. Mudd's original conviction, and remove the stigma from the Mudd family name."

Quick milker

A New Boston youth won the goat milking contest at the recent Michigan State Fair. This year's winner was Donald Glanzman of 24871 Middle Belt, New Boston. During the allotted time of three minutes, Donald squeezed out the most milk to win first prize and a plaque, according to Leona Hutchings of Ortonville, Mich., a 4-H enthusiast, who shot this picture.

Now is time to pick color for landscape

If you want to add a plant to your home grounds that will splash a bit of color across the autumn landscape, fall is the natural time to select it.

Keep your eyes open for colorful trees and shrubs. When one catches your eye, use a plant identification guide to find out what it is.

"After you know what you're looking at, you can learn more about it," suggested Harold Davidson, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University. "Fall color is only one aspect of a plant's performance, of course. Other factors to consider are ultimate size, preferred growing conditions, shape, the presence of flowers and fruits, potential disease and insect problems, leaf color the rest of the year and leaf and bark texture."

"Whether the plant is commercially available and whether it can successfully be transplanted are other considerations."

The sassafras, for instance, usually turns a beautiful red-orange in the fall. However, it is rarely used in the landscape unless it is native to the site, because it rarely survives being transplanted.

Trees more suited to the home landscape include the red maples — "October Glory" is a rich golden yellow, while "Red Sunset" is a flaming red — the sugar maple (reddish or yellowish bronze), honey locust, birch and poplar (yellow), Japanese maple (reddish purple), larch (lemon yellow) and ash (purple).

Shrubs with colorful fall foliage include the viburnums (purple) and burning bush, or euonymus (brilliant red).

"What we call 'fall color' is a plant's response to changes in environment," Davidson explained. "Short days and cold temperatures in the fall cause the plant to stop making chlorophyll, which gives leaves their green color. Without the green pigment to mask them, the other pigments — which have been there all along — become visible."

Fall color does not occur only in autumn. Various kinds of stress situations — nitrogen deficiency, drought, rodent damage — may result in color changes at other times of the year.

Berries and other fruits can add color to the fall scene, too, Davidson pointed out.

"One of the most popular trees for its fruits is the mountain ash," he said. "Many flowering crabapples put on a spectacular display of pink, red, orange, or yellow fruits, and some — generally the smaller-fruited varieties — will hold their fruit well into the winter."

Extension Service sets up hay swap

Because many producers in this area have had little or no hay production from their land due to this summer's drought, the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service is establishing a hay clearinghouse.

"The project will put livestock managers needing hay in touch with producers in other areas of the state having hay to sell," said Don Juchartz, Wayne County Extension Director.

The Wayne County Extension office currently is distributing survey forms to hay producers which will index the quantity, type, cutting and size of bale they have to sell.

The survey also contains a questionnaire for livestock managers as to the amount and quality of hay they need for their operation in the coming months.

These survey forms are available through the Wayne County Extension Office, 5455 Wayne Road, Wayne, and at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, 3716 Newberry St. Federal Building, Wayne, and Soil Conservation Service, Holiday Park Office Plaza, 8623 Wayne Road, Room 103, Westland.

The surveys are in the form of a self-mailer and need only to be filled out, stamped and mailed. The questionnaire filing deadline is Sept. 26.

Survey information will be compiled and distributed to all extension offices by Oct. 10. Producers needing to buy hay should contact the local office after that date to secure a listing of sources of hay for sale.

Price agreements between buyer and seller will be by private contract. The intent of the project is to provide livestock managers an alternative to having to

You can install slide mount bracket

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 8932

There are times that you may wish to use your mobile radio in your car as well as your home. If this is the case, you will need to purchase one more attachment for your CB radio, that being a removable slide mount bracket. The slide mount bracket comes in two parts. One is the fixed or top part, which screws into the dashboard just like the stationary mounting bracket that comes with your radio. The portable part attaches to the original mounting bracket on the radio.

How do you install the slide mount bracket? First of all remove your radio from the original mounting bracket. Be sure to disconnect the radio power wire, the antenna connection and the ground. There is no problem disconnecting the antenna wire, it can simply be unscrewed. The other two wires can be cut but be sure to leave at least 8 inches of wire still attached to the radio. Before cutting into these wires, disconnect the cable from the positive terminal of the battery.

Next, unscrew the original mounting bracket from the dashboard. Install the top part of the sliding bracket in place. You will have to drill new holes, and you will need an extra inch or so of height to accommodate the extra pieces.

Now that you have the new top bracket screwed into the dashboard, take the old mounting bracket and attach it to the underside of the portable part of the new mounting bracket. Now attach your old mounting bracket to the portable part of the new bracket. When you are done, the old mounting bracket should be securely fastened by the nuts and bolts to the portable part.

Now pick any two of the four wires on the terminal strip of the portable bracket. Connect the radio "hot", or positive, wire to one of these and the ground wire to the other. Solder the wires together and tape them. Find the wire coming from the power supply, located under the dashboard, and attach it to the wire on the terminal strip of the top mounting bracket that has the same color you used for attaching the radio hot wire to the portable bracket. Do the same for the ground wire. Be sure to tape and solder each of these connections. Proceed to screw the antenna to the back of the stationary bracket in the coax fitting. Next find the wire with the coax connector attached to the portable bracket and screw it into the radio. Now you can reconnect the car battery.

The radio now can be slid into the original bracket and tightened by using the wing nuts. Your radio now is ready to be put into use.

There is one other easy way to install your mobile unit for temporary use. The radio is not mounted in the car at all and the whole system can be removed quite easily. You can place the radio on the passenger seat, or on a console. The power supply for the radio comes from the cigarette lighter receptacle. You can buy a plug for this use. One end of the plug is fitted for the cigarette lighter, the other end is connected to the positive and negative wires of your radio in the back. That's about all you have to do to connect the radio, and the plug will work on any 12-volt system. A gutter mount antenna probably is your best bet when using this system. You can just run the antenna wire through your car window.

If you should decide to go this route, remember one thing. Being that it is so simple to install, it's just as easy to rip off. Make sure that when you leave the car you take the radio with you, or hide it in the trunk.

One slide mount I can recommend to you is made by Superior Industries Inc. of 10797 Harry Hines Blvd., Dallas, Tex. 75220 and is available through Auto Audio Sales in Wayne. It's a good mount and you don't have to drill into your radio. You don't have to fool around with connecting and disconnecting coax. The whole works slides right out.

Rubella cases show sharp increase in '77

Rubella (German measles), the disease that can damage or kill unborn babies, is up more sharply in 1977 than any of the infectious diseases that are the targets of current immunization efforts, according to Dr. Arthur J. Salisbury, vice-president for medical services of the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

The 18,428 rubella cases, reported nationally by the Center for Disease Control (CDC) through Sept. 3, represent a 75 percent increase over the 10,520 cases reported for the same period a year ago.

In contrast, CDC figures show that mumps have declined by 53 percent and diphtheria by 54 percent. Red measles (Rubella) are up by 55 percent. Only 7 cases of polio are reported this year.

Of particular concern in the rising pattern of rubella is the high susceptibility to the disease shown by high school and college students and military recruits.

Since the rubella vaccine was licensed in 1969, immunization campaigns have been directed primarily at children one to 12. This is the age group most likely to spread the infection to pregnant women. While reported rubella nationwide has fallen two-thirds below prevaccine levels, about 7.8 million unvaccinated children still are susceptible to the disease.

If a pregnant woman becomes infected during the early stage of her pregnancy, her unborn baby is in danger of death, mental retardation, deafness, heart disease and blindness.

Dr. Salisbury cautioned parents that vaccination against rubella (red measles) does not protect a person against rubella.

"Prevention of severe, even fatal birth defects caused by rubella is within our control if we work toward universal immunity against the disease," Dr. Salisbury noted.

This means expanding routine vaccination for young children and selective immunization of non-pregnant adolescents and young women. The virus in the vaccine may damage the unborn baby, in the same way as the natural rubella virus. For this reason, women of childbearing age should not be vaccinated unless it is certain they are not pregnant and understand they should not become pregnant within three months.

Doctor to pay call by TV

Modern day physicians have been criticized for not disseminating enough information about the body and its ailments to their patients. "Daniel Foster, M.D." tries to bridge this communication gap. His series (formerly entitled simply "M.D.") begins its second season on Channel 56 at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 14.

Writer-host Dr. Foster describes this series as "meaty, not milk and toast, and when we're through, a viewer probably knows everything about a particular disease he'd ever want to know." He tries "to select disease topics that affect a large segment of the population and choose specialists who can comment on those diseases in a way the public can understand."

Dr. Foster is professor of internal medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center—one of the leading teaching institutions of medical, biomedical and allied health sciences in the country. Likewise, his guests are specialists from noted medical treatment, education and research institutions across the nation.

Along with guest appearances by specialists, "Dr. Daniel Foster, M.D." incorporates film shot on location and other visual materials to inform viewers about disease detection, prevention and treatment and to relay the latest medical research findings.

Parenting program set

Raising children can be a very difficult job, although it's one of the easiest lines to get into.

"Parent Effectiveness," premiering Oct. 4, at 7 a.m. on Channel 56, offers some methods which are designed to help make the job a little easier and a lot more effective. For viewer convenience, each Tuesday morning installment will be repeated on Friday afternoons at 12:30 p.m. and again on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The 13 installments stem from a college course developed by Dr. Thomas Gordon, who served as consultant to "Parent Effectiveness" producers Gloria Penner and David Craven at the University of California—San Diego, which produced the series.

Gordon's non-traditional methods are explained in workshops, in which nine fictional parents participate, and via vignettes (filmed on location), in which parents and children interact. Positive approaches to explosive topics like religion, sex, television and choice of friends are dealt with in this manner.

Three Michigan schools are offering credit courses in conjunction with the telecasts. Viewers may watch the half-hour installments on Channel 56, then attend discussion groups on campus. Those interested may contact one of these schools to register: Wayne State University, College of Lifelong Learning, 577-4685; Marygrove College, Continuing Education, 862-8000; or Grand Valley State College, Community Education Division, (616) 895-6611.

An editorial opinion

That energy saving device revisited

Our editorial opinion of Aug. 18 asked the question: What ever happened to that energy-saving device?

We asked that question relative to the reported development of an energy-saving device, claimed to be capable of reducing the consumption of natural gas in home heating systems by as much as 36 percent.

Early this year, the late TV columnist Lou Gordon, interviewed a man on his program who claimed to have developed such a device. At that time, veiled implications were made that the device was not available, and in fact, was being intentionally withheld from the consuming public by the gas utilities for the purpose of protecting and maintaining the current high well-head prices of natural gas.

Singled out specifically for the footdragging charged in gaining approval from local building codes, that currently would not allow such a device was the The American Gas Association (AGA).

(AGA), the organization representing the interests of, and speaking for the many gas utilities throughout the country, has been also charged with the responsibility of blocking similar moves in other states to amend building codes for the purpose of implementing the general installation of such devices.

Also last winter, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company announced plans to install the energy-saving device in the homes of 190 of their customer for the purpose of evaluating the potential savings.

Following a lack of new information relating to the results of Consolidated's testing and the announcement that Consumers Power Company would also sponsor its own testing on the devices, we asked the question.

Following our editorial, the president of Michigan Consolidated Gas replied, and provided us and our readers with additional information. In that letter, President Charles Montgomery stated that Michigan Consolidated was awaiting a final report from an independent testing laboratory, the Battelle Memorial Institute.

While Montgomery did not provide us with any figures relating to the savings possible with the utilization of the devices his company tested, it is understood that Consolidated's final figures will indicate that gas savings will range between 26 and 35 percent.

Montgomery further stated that the program for energy conservation that Michigan Consolidated has presented to the Michigan Public Service Commission, would not now be possible because of language contained in the new federal energy bill, passed by the U.S. House of Representatives this last August.

The language referred to by Montgomery would prohibit any utility from engaging in the installation of energy-saving devices in the manner proposed by Consolidated.

While we certainly question the wisdom of the prohibitive language contained in the House approved energy bill, we also question why Consolidated does not now simply turn their new knowledge over to the private business sector for development.

We feel that the importance of energy conservation cannot be overemphasized.

Since the principal problem involved with the full implementation of this and other such gas-saving devices appears to be our current building codes, we would urge Michigan Consolidated to get firmly behind a move to force the necessary changes in those codes now.

We feel, that once building codes allow the installation of these gas-saving devices, private enterprise will not be slow in responding to a possible new market area, that could and most probably would, substantially reduce our country's demand for natural gas.

Michigan Consolidated has taken the first step in the direction of energy conservation. We would like to see them follow that step by fully supporting revision in building codes, and if necessary, by turning over to private enterprise their new knowledge on how to get the job done.

Editor's Log

'Dirty Tricks' still with us

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

In spite of our fervent hopes to the contrary, campaign 'dirty tricks' did not end with the resignation of Richard Nixon.

Not only did 'dirty tricks' not end, but each year seems to witness new and improved applications of the principle of 'hit, run and hide'.

As a long time participant of the Democratic process, I have been continually amazed by the antics of those people who seek our support for elective office. Many of those same people, who are telling us about their virtues and good intentions, are spending an inordinate amount of time either generating or resisting the effects of unsigned last-minute campaign literature.

The authors of this type of material who on the surface may appear to be the cornerstone of the community, are actively engaged in disseminating this

'smut' because 'it is in the best interests of the community', or so they claim. After all, if they don't tell it like it is, who will?

Two years ago, prior to my joining Associated Newspapers, in the 'hot' campaign for the mayor's seat in Westland, a mysterious last-minute letter appeared on the scene, charging that Tom Taylor, then a candidate for mayor possessed less than the highest moral integrity. It is interesting to note that I received that letter while visiting a friend's house, from a current city councilman, who is now expressing concerns that type of material may be used in this year's campaign.

In Romulus, members of that city's Democratic Club are being forced to underwrite, with their dues, the publication of a smear sheet designed to destroy anyone in opposition to one candidate's bid for elective office.

In spite of the fact that candidate, and even the Democratic Club's board of directors, claim no control over the publication, it is obvious that once again, a candidate for the highest office in Romulus had made the decision to not only employ 'dirty tricks', but to actually make that approach the backbone of his campaign.

No, the resignation of Richard Nixon has not put an end to political 'dirty tricks'. Nor will political dirty tricks ever end until the citizens of the community permanently remove from the political scene, each and every candidate who would sanction their use.

Smear sheets, hate mail, unsigned charges, and last-minute character assassination are symptomatic of a candidate's severe personal shortcomings.

Under no circumstances should such candidates be given the public trust. We the people have that power.

The irony of it all

As one travels the byways of life, time etches not only its telltale marks on our countenances, but also leaves indelible bits of learning and wisdom in our brains.

For what it's worth: The person in the office who gripes the most to his fellow workers about working conditions and the boss is strangely silent when given the opportunity to talk in a showdown situation. (He ends up being the 25-year veteran who gets the gold watch, while those who speak up are long gone, whether by choice or by demand.)

Those persons in every walk of life who do the most bellyaching never seem to have any solutions.

The one and only time that you've asked your best friend, whom you've helped in every way, for a loan, he's always broke! It's times like this when you swear to the heavens above that you'll set aside a few bucks each week so you'll never be in such a financial predicament again.

Those who want to get away from convention — having to belong to this club or that organization — end up forming their own group.

Those "dummies" in your grade and high school classes who didn't give a damn about learning anything are in the top 10 percent of salary earners today.

The new car you just bought because the old one repeatedly broke down somehow or other conks out right in the middle of the intersection, as if a conspiracy exists against you.

The hamburger that you eat at your favorite fast-food eatery, as sloppily thrown together as it is, always seems to taste better than the big, whopping deluxe you prepare at home.

The girl whom you were afraid to ask out because you felt you weren't good-looking enough and not enough for winds up going with or married to some schnook you know in your heart you could put to shame.

You have noticed, as you get older, and you know it's true because you feel it inside, that you are better than everyone else!

Women's fashions, regardless of how nutty and ridiculous, fortunately change as often as the seasons. Every once in a while, they are tolerable.

Those who most loudly profess strong religious views and who look down their noses at the rest of humanity, are sometimes the ones who end up going to jail for such crimes as embezzlement.

Little children are more scheming, devious and daring, by accident, than adults are on purpose.

As one gets older, he begins to understand why some people live in big houses, guarded by an electrified fence and two watch dogs.

A married man soon comprehends why women take so much time to apply their cosmetics when he looks at his wife in the morning. A fitting corollary: A man immediately knows why women wear girdles when he sees her take one off.

Teachers are never liked too well by their pupils until the pupils grow into adulthood. By then, it doesn't make any difference to the teacher.

Parents are never respected so much, loved so dearly and missed so greatly as when they are dead.

A highly-prized and highly-desired object becomes just another trinket around the house — after its purchase.

Everyone at the 25th reunion of your high school graduating class looks much older and fatter than you. Also, the thought enters your head that you can't imagine what you saw in so-and-so when she was a cheerleader for the football team in your junior year.

Everyone you know makes more money than you do. You just know it. It has to be true. You'll never make as much. You'll die making less than everyone else.

A hot fudge sundae, no, two hot fudge sundaes, when eaten, are never a good as what you thought before you ate them.

Life is only worth living when you know you are going to die, and death is not given a thought when you are really living.

As too many people have pointed out too many times, everything is relative. That's what Albert Einstein believed, and look how smart he was!

The latest miracle 'Fad Diet'

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

As indicated in last week's column, it will be my purpose today to examine, at least in gross terms, the latest fad diet which seems to have captured the hearts (and possibly purse strings) of far too many people.

This diet has a number of names, but those most frequently used are the liquid protein diet or the protein-sparing fast.

Unfortunately, too many of the desperate have viewed this diet as the magic answer to the overweight problem, and have adopted it without first making a critical examination of its possible effects.

This protein plan was developed by a physician; he also authored a book in which he cautioned people not to attempt his scheme without the permission and constant observation of a trained medical practitioner. Indeed, events have lead this physician to write a second book in which he emphasizes again the danger of going on the protein fast sans competent medical supervision.

How does this diet work? Well, here are some of the basics.

First, the participant is not allowed the luxury of solid foods. Instead, a predigested liquid protein extract, composed of the amino acids needed to form protein, is ingested. The mixture contains no carbohydrates or fats, and there are something like 60 calories in two tablespoons.

Secondly, in addition to the liquid protein, vitamin and mineral supplements must be taken along with two to four grams of potassium and increased amounts of folic acid. The physician who described this to me said, "I'm stunned that so many people can be convinced that they can remedy years of indulgent behavior with a magic potion and a handful of tablets."

Normally, a person's body depends on carbohydrates as the primary source of energy. Under the dictates of this liquid protein regime, the body is denied any carbohydrate of consequence, and thus must draw upon stored fats (triglycerides) for its energy quotient.

The triglycerides break down to form free fatty acids and glycerol. Some of the free fatty acids are used as energy for protein tissue, and the remainder are converted by liver to ketones.

Now we have come across something interesting; ketones may act as natural appetite depressant. That's not all bad when you are trying to diet, unless, of course, you develop a total lack of interest in food and slip into a complete fast.

A common side effect of any dalliance with this diet is the development of bad breath; a phenomenon which results from the increased levels of ketone now bounding about in your system. In addition to the bad breath — which I suppose can be masked with yet another over-the-counter preparation — you may well experience cramps in your extremities. However, this distress can be overcome by increasing the calcium supplement specified in the diet. Again, a magic solution

And there is another interesting consideration. While you are on this diet, the uric acid level in your body may well increase. If a physician is steering you through this regime, no doubt the physician will prescribe medication to control this unfortunate event. If, conversely, you are foolish enough to attempt the liquid protein diet on your own, be assured that you are playing with fire.

The staff physician said, "The increased excretion of uric acid can easily be deposited in your kidneys, and the formation of kidney stones is a serious possibility. If you have ever passed a kidney stone, or even more seriously, had to be operated for kidney stones, you can appreciate just how distressful such an event can be."

He went on to explain how such a diet can have deleterious effects on other organs such as the liver and the heart.

"It's an artificial solution to a problem with possibly deep-seated origins. In my years of practice, I've become more and more convinced that education is the real answer to this problem of overweight. People must learn what to eat, how much of that food they really need, when to eat — it's not as simple as some might have you believe."

Here are some hints which may help the serious dieter in his/her quest for a better quality of life.

You should eat in one (the same) room as often as practical. Clearly, those chips and beer late at night while watching TV are not recommended. After you have put some food in your mouth, put the utensil back down on the plate: if you keep a fork or spoon in your hand, there is a temptation to begin shoveling food toward the mouth. The same holds for a sandwich. Take a bite, and then put it back on the plate while you chew and enjoy that which you have in your mouth.

Lastly, learn the difference between needs (hunger), and wants (appetite).

Hang in there — you can do it if you want to.

From the State House

Some results of the first six months: Mandatory sentences, PPB, education, water

By WILLIAM R. KEITH
State Representative
33rd District

The first six months of the Legislature's 1977 session covered considerable ground, with action on a wide variety of bills.

Those six months saw the Legislature, and particularly the House, take a hard line on crime.

Signed into law was a bill which denies bail to persons who are awaiting sentencing or have their convictions under appeal after being found guilty of a violent crime. The only exceptions would be if the trial judge finds clear and convincing evidence that the defendant would not be a threat to others if set free on bail and, in the case of an appeal, if the appeal raises an important question of law or fact which could result in a reversal of the conviction. The law requires that there be a speedy hearing on appeal if bail is denied.

The House approved and sent to the State bills which set stiff mandatory sentences for large-scale heroin dealers, permit police to use court-authorized wiretapping to investigate suspected major narcotics operations, establish mandatory minimum sentences for illegally carrying concealed weapons, and crack down on persons who make use of minors for pornography or prostitution.

There was action on a number of bills in the interests of consumers, including final approval of a measure to lower the level of PPB allowed to pass from farm livestock into the food chain.

The House passed and sent to the Senate bills to make it possible for car buyers to withhold installment payments to financial institutions if the auto dealer refuses to correct defects in the car, prohibit merchants from starting to figure interest on charge plan purchases until the merchandise or services are actually delivered to the purchaser, and establish new regulations to better protect owners and prospective buyers of condominium units.

There was attention to health care. The House sent to the Senate bills enacting a new state health code, which brings together, updates and makes more effective Michigan's public health laws, as well as measures to establish an Office of Nutrition in the Department of Public Health to improve standards of nutrition for Michigan residents, improve emergency medical services, and permit Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan to offer coverage for optometric services. (The last bill was approved by the Senate and signed into law.)

Probably foremost in the field of education was approval of a school aid bill which moves to de-emphasize property taxes in school finance by separating a portion of the state aid guarantee from any consideration of millage levels, thus starting to hold the line on the growing gap between high-revenue and low-revenue school districts.

The Legislature approved virtually all budget bills for the fiscal year starting October 1, and took action to stabilize future budgets by creating a state budget stabilization fund. The legislation authorizes money to be placed in the fund in good economic times as a cushion against economic downturns when unemployment goes up and personal income and state revenues go down.

There was also concern for veteran's needs. Signed into law was a measure which expands the Board of Managers of the Michigan Veterans Facility, requiring that the board include representatives of the various veterans' organizations as well as another bill to allow service officers of veterans' organizations and county departments of veterans' affairs to have access to discharge papers filed with county clerks when necessary to aid a veteran or survivors to obtain benefits.

Among the elections bills sent to the Senate was one to abolish Michigan's expensive and questionably popular presidential preference primary.

Of interest to sportsmen is a bill, recently signed into law, which will require hunters in Michigan to wear the highly-visible, fluorescent "hunter orange" material, a requirement which other states have used to substantially reduce hunting accidents.

One of the most significant labor bills signed into law revises the unemployment compensation appeals system, expanding the appeal board and requiring that it consist of representatives of employers, employees and the general public. Also approved was an appropriation which opened summer jobs in conservation and related projects for thousands of Michigan youths who might otherwise be unemployed during the summer.

In the area of the environment was a bill, approved by both House and Senate, which would place controls over the use of chemicals used to fight noxious underwater growth in lakes and streams so that the herbicides do not harm swimmers or pollute water supplies.

The House approved and sent to the Senate bills which would give out-city customers of the Detroit Water Department representation on the board of Water Commissioners, require a yearly independent audit of the water department, and require public hearings before any proposed rate increases go into effect.

In an effort to reduce the state's rising Medicaid costs, the Legislature approved a bill which sets stiff penalties for anyone who knowingly cheats or assists others to cheat in obtaining Medicaid benefits.

Important to local units of government was approval of the grants and transfers appropriations for the next fiscal year. The largest portion of that budget, $49617 million, covers state-collected tax revenues shared with local governments.

I would like your opinion

To the Editor:

I would like to ask your opinion on a subject that I consider to be of utmost importance. Is there no law or no way we citizens of Romulus can stop this constant badgering by our school officials for a millage increase?

As you know, we have been asked to vote on an 8.5 mill increase five times in the last two years. Now, I understand there are efforts being made to put it on the ballot for the sixth time. Don't you think this is a little bit ridiculous?

To me, the question of whether or not to vote "yes" or "no" is not the point here. I am more concerned about this out and out satire of our way of life. These people are making a farce of our American form of Government. What right does anyone, pro or con, have to twist the intent of our system to align with their personal views. To me this is wrong and there should be some way to stop it. By establishing this unholy precedent, these individuals are opening the door for all kinds of public harassment.

In addition, if the "yes" vote were to finally off-set the "no" vote, would the citizens voting "no" get six more chances to vote "no"? I think not.

Gil White, Jr.
Romulus

Editor's note:

Your point is well taken, Mr. White. In your closing paragraph, you have expressed your doubts that opponents of any approved millage would be given the opportunity to reconsider.

The past five unsuccessful millage election have cost your school board more than $21,700, with the breakdown as follows:

June '76 annual election - $4,550
Sept. '76 special election - $4,349

March '77 special election - $5,160
June '77 annual election - $5,080
Sept. '77 city primary - $2,638
Total - $21,777

While we do not necessarily agree with the decision that the Romulus voters have made relative to the millage issue, we do agree with you, that the expenditure of most of that money could have been made in more productive areas.

I will be happy to comply

To the Editor:

After reading the "Editorial" of September 21, 1977, I will be most happy to comply with the newspaper's request concerning all printed campaign literature for the up and coming November 8th election. I will forward all of my printed material to you.

I sincerely appreciate your deep concern for our community and the citizens of Romulus.

Hospital closing 'facts' offered

To the Editor:

I would like to apprise you and your readers of some facts regarding the possible closing of Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital. As in way to balance the County budget, I believe the community is being misinformed because several important facts have not been brought to their attention.

1. With the closing of the Psychiatric Hospital, several million dollars of revenues and cash collections from Blue Cross - Blue Shield, Medicare, Medicaid and other third party payors, which in 1976 alone amounted to $6,770,471, and with our 100 percent occupancy rate at all times, we may match or exceed that amount this year will be lost.

2. The two and one half million dollars in county contribution charged to us as the shared costs of the county operation, such as General Hospital shared services with maintenance of vacant buildings, cost of general county administration, will continue to exist resulting in higher cost of other county departments at the expense of the taxpayer.

3. The county will still have to pay for 10 percent of the total costs for every Wayne County resident treated at any state institution. Since the average length of stay in state institutions is much longer, (6-12 months for state compared to 3-4 weeks for county hospital), the actual cost of treating the county patients in state institutions will be much greater in the long run, not to mention the waste of human life and work loss in a state institutional setting. The state hospital readmission rate is also much higher than the county.

4. Some 340 employees will be added to the unemployment list in a county where the unemployment rate is already the highest in the nation, if the state does not live up to its promise of hiring all of them.

Over one million people living in western Wayne County, through their elected officials, mayors and councilmen of their cities, have passed resolutions unanimously opposing the closing of the Psychiatric Hospital. I believe closing of the Psychiatric Hospital is not in the best interest of the county and the people that it serves.

I believe it is time for Chairman of the Board of Commissioners and news media to reevaluate this situation and realize that it eventually will cost the taxpayers more money in the long run and try to find a better way of balancing the budget.

Aftermath of a Boycott

By RICHARD L. LESHER
President
Chamber of Commerce of The United States

In May, 1972, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union launched a consumer boycott of the clothing — principally men's slacks — produced by the Farah Manufacturing Company of El Paso, Texas. The boycott was promptly joined by church groups and other kind-hearted citizens who wanted to "help" the "downtrodden" workers the ACWU was trying to unionize.

The boycott achieved its immediate objective: Farah capitulated in February, 1974, and accepted a union. But, did anybody really benefit in the long run? And, did any of the "kind hearted" citizens who made the boycott so effective bother to follow up the results of their crusade? I doubt it.

I doubt it because the same crowd is now trying the same kind of boycott against another Southern manufacturer, J. P. Stevens. This fact alone makes it worthwhile to review the aftermath of the Farah boycott.

First, what happened to the company? Farah at its pre-boycott peak produced 12,000 dozen men's and boy's garments per day. Currently they are producing 3,500 dozen per day, which is a decline of 71 percent. In other words, they have never recovered from the boycott, even though they now have a union.

What happened to the workers? Before the boycott, Farah employed 9,500 people at nine plants in the El Paso and San Antonio areas. Today, they employ 6,500 in three plants. So, three thousand jobs disappeared, thanks to the boycott.

What happened to the union? Estimates vary, but the union spent approximately $4.5 million on the boycott. As a result, it obtained 5,500 new members. At the mid-1974 dues level of $3 per member per month, the ACWU (now known as the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union following a 1976 merger of the ACWU and the TWU) would need 25 years to recoup the cost of acquiring these members.

The union expected to be able to organize other employees in El Paso after a victory at Farah, thus justifying the cost. They foresaw a potential of 50-60,000 new members. It didn't happen. So far — over three years after the settlement — only one-tenth of El Paso is unionized.

And when a settlement was finally reached between Willie Farah and the union, the union netted only twenty cents an hour more, spread over a three-year period, than would have been required anyway by the 1974 minimum wage increase. That is, the union won a three-year increase of eighty cents an hour, sixty cents an hour of which was mandated by the higher minimum wage law.

To those who struck for 22 months, the twenty cents gained by the union must seem like small compensation. To the 2,000 who lost their jobs during the boycott, and the additional 1,000 who have lost jobs because of the lingering after effects, the boycott can't seem like any help at all.

And what can the union do now? Farah is obviously not as well off as it once was. The company probably could not afford either another strike or a major increase in wage costs.

Meanwhile, Farah's competition has gained the business Farah lost — not because of anything they did or did not do, but simply because of the boycott. Thus, competition is reduced in the menswear industry, and the consumer has less choice of style, quality and price.

I hope the good people who are thinking of joining the Stevens boycott — or any other boycott — will read this and think long and hard about the possible consequences of their acts.

Our conscience can drive us to do wonderful things, but only when that conscience is properly informed.

'That's what I thought when I planted them'

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I had just found another wrinkle and the girdle guaranteed to make you look five pounds lighter wasn't doing its job when my love came home. He gave me a little peck right next to the new wrinkle, took off his necktie and hung it on the doorknob, shook the paper loose and asked what was for dinner.

"Just us," I said mournfully. "That's good," he said and plopped down in his LazyBoy. Kicking off his shoes, he let out a sigh of utter contentment and said, "How much longer are the kids going to be away?"

"Four more weeks," I cried.

"Great," he grinned. I broke out in loud sobs and rushed to the kitchen where I buried my head in the dishwasher. I've been getting these crying spells ever since we have been left with only two big kids at home. I cry every time I look at the crack in the table through which the orange juice used to spill.

I cry every time I put a piece of bread in the toaster and it comes up toast, instead of music. I burst into loud sobs every time I look at a full jar of peanut butter.

My love heard me sobbing and came out to the kitchen.

"What did you do today?" he asked kindly enough.

"I scrubbed a clean bathtub!" I howled.

"That does it," he said and went striding off to the den where I heard him dialing the telephone.

"Listen," he said. "Your mother is going nuts over here with all the quiet and cleanliness and since I'm going on a golfing weekend, why don't you take the three days off and go somewhere...and leave the kids here."

Well, naturally, no one in their right mind is going to turn down an offer like that, so on Friday morning, there I was in my housecoat feeding a bunch of little kids who looked just like the kids I used to feed so long ago.

And, sure enough, it wasn't five seconds before a glass of orange juice went trickling through the crack of the table and down onto the nose of George (our dog) who was sitting there expecting something from force of habit.

Before the birds woke up the next morning, four pairs of legs leaped into the middle of me and started kicking up an awful fuss.

"We're hungry," they shouted. "C'mon, we gotta eat."

"Listen," I mumbled. "I've just put on my wrinkle cream and it has to set awhile," but naturally they didn't care about that, and after I got to thinking about it, neither did I. Especially after they all sat there bawling and kicking and pulling.

About mid-afternoon the littliest one came in with a bunch of flowers drooping in his tiny hands. And right behind him came one of my neighbors.

"Listen," said my neighbor. "There's some strange kid in the neighborhood..."

"Look," I said to her. "Look at these flowers my littliest grandchild brought in. Aren't they the prettiest things you've ever seen?"

"Yep," she answered. "That's what I thought when I planted them."

Astrology Fall '77 will feature Cleo Abuin and Marc Robertson

CLEO ABUIN

It is written in the stars. Astrology Fall '77 will present an extraordinary event on Friday—the twin lectures of Cleo Abuin and Marc Robertson—from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Airport Hilton Inn, 31500 Wick Road, Romulus. The Abuin-Robertson lectures on astrology and reincarnation will reinforce the opinions of believers, ruffle the determination of skeptics and intrigue, provoke, and delight everyone.

Cleo Abuin's topic is living astrology. Detroit's doyenne of the astrological sciences will explain the ways in which astrology can be adapted to everyday living, guiding relationships with family and friends, career and investment decisions and love and marriage. Cleo's advice is enlightening and practical, but her approach is witty, humorous and irreverent, and she spares no one when she describes the weaknesses, as well as the strengths, of each individual sign of the zodiac.

Cleopatra Herculeia Korgia Abuin (which is why everyone calls her Cleo) was selected by Esquire Magazine for their "Best" issue as the Best Astrologer in Detroit. A great many people believe her to be the best astrologer in the whole world.

Cleo has appeared on network television (the David Susskind Show, the Virginia Graham Show) and Detroit area television. She has also accumulated a sizable number of hours in front of the cameras for local telethons. Detroit radio personalities interview her frequently. Even an underground film, The Divine Mr. J (starring Bette Midler) is among her credits.

Reincarnation, the subject of life after life, will be discussed by Seattle author-astrologer Marc Robertson whose research into the correlation between astrology and reincarnation has produced some new and exciting opinions regarding past and future existences and the possibility that the key to the mysteries of reincarnation lies within personal horoscopes.

Robertson has studied astrology for more than 15 years, part of the time while attending college and somewhat quietly while working as a journalist.

In the late 1960s he began practicing it full time.

"My ideas were, at first, very much influenced by Dane Rudhyar's re-interpretation of astrological symbology; later, they were seasoned by actual work with people's problems and experiences," he said.

Robertson has practiced, taught and written astrology. For two years, he had his own radio program on the subject. Later, he began holding astrological seminars in most of the major cities on the West Coast and has traveled and spoken on astrology throughout the West, the mid-west and Canada.

He has written for the major astrological publications, such as Horoscope and Astrology Now, and teaches and practices at the Astrology Center of the Northwest, which distributes its books throughout the United States and to countries all over the world.

"What I am trying to do with Cosmopsychology is bring some of the most complex astrological ideas down into the language of common experience," he explained. "If I have one goal for the future, it's that—to simplify some of these ideas so that even the ordinary person can make them effective in his life."

Following the lectures both lecturers will conduct a question-and-answer session with the audience.

Tickets are $10 each and are available from Sunshine Enterprises, 9281 Allen Road, Allen Park, or by calling 274-1235.

'French Chef' Returns to 56

The best of "The French Chef," with Julia Child, introduces French recipes and techniques to a new generation of cooks, beginning at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 12 on Channel 56.

Public TV has chosen 39 of the original 200 French Chef" shows which first aired between 1970 and 1973 for a fall revival of haute cuisine.

Television's culinary sorceress, Ms. Child, is delighted about the revival. She says: "Techniques, in fact, are what cooking is all about...French cuisine is the only one that has rules of conduct. Once these are learned, they apply to all good cooking from anywhere."

truth, the way you become a cook. The concept is simple when you become aware of it, and especially when you see it being done right there in front of you, on your television screen," Ms. Child says.

"French Chef" October cookery—from roast chicken and quiche Lorraine to shrimp mousse and spaghetti flambe—also can be found in the recently published cookbook, "From Julia Child's Kitchen."

Slides to loot at bats

The choice of which "French Chef" segments would be shown again was based on the idea of presenting a variety of dishes, techniques and professional secrets—with an emphasis on them and variation of theme. For instance, Coq au Vin and Chicken Fricassee—sisters under the sauce—are presented side by side; the theme is chicken, mushrooms, onions and wine; the variation is that one poaches in red wine, the other in white. The result is two entirely different dishes, in both taste and appearance.

A slide show, entitled "Bats: Diners of Darkness", will be shown at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford at 7 p.m. Oct. 11.

Bats often are associated with the Halloween season, vampires, and evil doings. Yet their reputation is undeserved, for they are very useful creatures in the natural world.

This hour-long program is free, however, advance registration is required. Vehicle entry permits are required.

For registration or information contact the Nature Center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

'Where are our churches?'

Where are our churches? We talk christianity and speak of brotherhood. We even affirm our task as Christians to transform society or at least individual unity of society, persons. In light of this, it is with sadness that I speak of the lack of involvement and participation of churches in the task of reaching people and being agents for Christ, his very ambassadors.

First, let's talk about the sense of Christian unity we understand and use for a guide. Are we to be united as Christians? Most of us understand this to apply in similar ways to our own fellowship of believers, our individual church. It is to be loving, caring, concerned, helpful and serving of our fellow man at least within our own church. It is where we are bound together in this attitude and spirit we call Christian.

It is probably deploring to all of us that we often find instances within our own church where this is neglect, and we are acting unchristian. In fact, this is probably the biggest argument against becoming a Christian that I hear. It is that we, in the Christian church, often act so unchristian that those outside the church, seeking to know Christ, quit looking for a church, or seek a group outside the church that lives the Christian life, even if they don't call themselves Christians.

If it is hard for us to feel Christian unity among our own, it's no wonder that it is trouble to talk about doing things together and working together with other churches. The early christian followers spoke of the universal Christian church, the fellowship of all true believers in our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The Apostles Creed affirms this understanding in the statement, "I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy Catholic (universal) church...." The Spirit of God is the binding and uniting power which makes this possible. It's no wonder that people feel the Christian church in the community is weak when we are not united and bound together in His Spirit. Our fellowships do not even know each other and our own members do not even know each other. It is a sad condition we find ourselves in. How the Lord must grieve for us.

This is not to say that we are not trying. Looking for the true believers and those worthy of our cooperation and our friendship in His Spirit does seem to be our major concern. I see it all the time the critical inspection of other people and groups. Our major activity appears to be determining the good and bad we see. It's just a shame that we find more bad and repulsive things about those other people we see. We really can't take the risk of trusting them. After all, look at all the problems they have. "They really are different than I am," we say. Therefore, doing things together with other groups is just too much of a risk and an effort.

We're really not lost yet because we can always expect the minister to be working with other ministers (true believers) for us. Although that takes time away from his really important duties of caring for his flock, our church. We have a lot of people who need him in our church. So the minister is torn between doing his duty to those of his own church, who, incidentally, also pay him, and getting together with his competition, in some cases, or his cronies in others. Either is often not seen as important as serving his own people.

One older minister once told me that it takes a while before the people in your church are your people and you are their pastor. He said some are never your people and you may never be their pastor. I was shocked by this insight, but then I decided it was easy to see why pastors needed to stick close to their office and not stray far from their flock. He might need those votes and support to keep the ship afloat. How sad it is. Christianity can't be Christian because of Christians.

Why is it then that some pastors and some lay people continue to cooperate and work together to transform the community, and people in it, into more Christlike living and fellowship? First of all, there is the undying belief that Christianity is for all people and that the church is inclusive and not exclusive. All are welcome who seek the Lord and desire to serve Him. Second, that the purpose of the church is to be in mission, to be ambassadors, instruments and tools, guided by our Lord's spirit to carry out his work. And, third, that we are drawn together in fellowship and love that through His uniting Spirit all this is possible. We are brothers. Buildings, styles of worship, our individuality in receiving the faith, our color, our social economic having and not having, all these things cannot separate us from each other. God made us some promises and in these promises we have Hope and find new Life, together. God, help us to renew our life, we pray.

Bill would help in bottle changes

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has introduced a package of bills designed to benefit labor and business adversely affected by passage of the 1976 proposal for a bottle ban. The three bills were introduced as the Legislature reconvened for its fall session Sept. 19.

Faust said while he supported the bottle ban in 1976, he was sensitive to the problems certain labor and business groups would encounter once the ban passed.

"It is often a difficult choice between the needs of the environment and concerns of labor. We need to be sensitive and work in a direction that can accommodate a better environment while maintaining a healthy employment climate," Faust said.

All three bills deal with some aspect of taxation credit. One bill will provide credit — through revision of the Single Business Tax — for retraining of employees. The credit would cover up to $300 of the costs for worker retraining necessitated by passage of the bottle ban.

A similar bill would grant the same amount of credit through amendment of the State Income Tax Act. Persons needing new vocational training could have up to $300 of the expense credited on their income tax.

The final bill addresses property taxes on industrial plants made less efficient and useful, as a direct result of voter approval of the 1976 bottle ban, known as Proposal A.

Faust said two of the bills give heavy emphasis to aiding the worker while the third bill is strictly an aid to businesses hurt by the bottle measure.

"I am well aware of the small, but significant, number of workers in Michigan who might have been threatened by loss of employment, whether temporary or long term and these measures should go a long way towards easing any crisis. It could mean new and better directions for these workers," Faust said.

Faust, as Senate Majority Leader, plans to take the lead on more concerns of the people for legislative priorities in the remaining months of session this year and next.

Senior of the Month

'Lonesome' George: One of my favorites

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Recently, I had the honor of meeting a man who now ranks in the top 10 on my "favorite people" list. Because I felt it wouldn't be easy for an amateur writer to interview a professional writer, I was a little apprehensive about it. When I arrived at his house however, I was immediately put at ease by his friendliness and charm. He is the type of man that other men sincerely like, and women want to hug. Everyone, from Soupy Sales to the mailman, is considered his friend; and friends they are.

For the thousands who know him by face or voice, no introduction is necessary. For the few who do not, I would like you to meet our senior of the month, Lonesome George Pfeiffer, owner of the "Woods and Waters" radio show, and the "Father of Spin Fishing in the North American Continent".

Lonesome George was taping, via telephone, the following day's radio show for "Woods and Waters" when I arrived. His show deals with fishing, bow and firearms hunting, boating, and snowmobiling, but also accents the outdoors in general with such timely descriptions as the beauty of the changing leaves, and hints on where to go hiking to see the geese. The show is aired on 19 stations in Michigan on Thursday, Friday and Saturday each week.

When Lonesome George finished taping, I explained that I would like to hear all about him, from the beginning to the present. The following is what emerged from our conversation. It is a short accounting of one man's life.

Lonesome George was born on the east side of Detroit. At a very young age he was introduced to fishing by his mother. The Detroit River became their favorite spot. Trips up north to an uncle's home also gave George ample opportunity to fish, and he soon became adept at the sport. George's grandfather, James Watt, the owner of the first motion picture theater in Detroit, also owned a boat house. He offered George 1 cent for every 10 perch he could catch. Young George was in business.

A delivery boy for the Detroit News, Free Press, and Detroit

Times, George saved his paper route money to buy a bicycle. With the bike he could ride to Connors' Creek to fish. Later someone gave George a BB gun. He began to shoot sparrow for a bounty at 1 cent each. He also began to trap muskrats while fishing at Connors' Creek. The hides of the muskrats were then worth 10 cents a piece. Although not aware of it at the time, George was busy practicing for his future.

The war came, and to his surprise, George was drafted. But even the war did not completely interfere with his love for hunting and fishing. Serving under Gen. Patton, George was given the commission of "Game Warden" for the 3rd Army. Still maintaining ties with the Detroit papers he worked for as a child, George wrote hunting and fishing releases for them from Europe.

Club. He also married his sweetheart, Ruth.

County to appeal $3 million award in health care suit

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has announced that the county will appeal a jury's award of more than $3 million in damages arising from a lawsuit against Wayne County General Hospital.

"Our attorneys have advised me that there is reversible error in the record," Barr said. "I have every reasonable confidence that the appeal will be successful."

Barr said the jury award of $3,088,000, described as the largest of its kind in Michigan history, could force the county to levy special property millage, if allowed to stand.

"I am convinced on a basis of what I have been told that everything consistent with accepted medical practice was done to help this unfortunate patient, and that his present condition resulted from his own actions," Barr added.

The 6-member jury ruled in favor of Brian Spontenburgh, 26, of Livonia and his mother, Joan, Sept. 22, following a 2-week trial before Wayne County Circuit Judge

William J. Giovan.

Spontenburgh, according to court testimony, was brought to the hospital in 1968 after he tried to commit suicide by locking himself in the family garage with a car engine running. He suffered carbon monoxide poisoning and is confined to a wheelchair with severely limited use of his faculties.

The suit charged that hospital personnel erred by not placing him in a pressurized oxygen — hyperbaric — chamber. County lawyers argued that use of the hyperbaric chamber was not a common, accepted medical practice in this region.

Corporation Counsel Aloysius J. Suchy said the suit was filed in 1973 after a statute, giving governmental units immunity from such suits, had been struck down in court and before a new statute, now in effect, had been adopted.

Suchy also said, the county does not have malpractice insurance, thus the possibility of a property tax hike to pay the cost of the award, if the jury verdict stands.

"There's nothing I can do. I'm just one person."

Do you really think God will accept that?

Maybe you can't help people all by yourself. Then join with others at your local synagogue or church. You'll find lots of things to do.

Example: in Montana, one congregation was disturbed by the lack of adequate housing for senior citizens. Because of its concern, today senior citizens have a new, non-profit place to live. The God we worship expects us to help our neighbors.

MESC's WIN proves to be a winner

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) has completed a highly successful first year for its Job Service program, filling 138,725 job openings, and has produced almost $50 million in welfare savings through its Work Incentive (WIN) program.

MESC Director S. Martin Taylor said his agency, since last Labor Day, has increased its number of job placements by almost 34,700, or 33.5 percent, when compared to the previous 12 months.

The MESC, the state's largest public employment service, filled a wide variety of jobs ranging from professional and managerial to clerical, sales and service. In addition, Taylor said the majority of jobs were permanent and full-time, lasting more than four days.

Although improvement in the economy accounted for some of the gains in employment, Taylor said a major factor for the increased job placements by the MESC was its Job Service promotional program.

The program began last Labor Day and is geared toward developing a closer link between the MESC and employers. The agency has updated many of its officers, retrained its staff and actively pursued job listings from employers.

The Job Service program is paying off. For the 12 months ending Aug. 31, the agency received and listed 204,822 job openings from employers. This is a 23 percent increase over the previous year period, when the MESC received 166,520 openings.

Taylor also praised Michigan's WIN program calling it one of the best in the nation. He said that the $50 million the program saved Michigan taxpayers in annualized welfare costs during the past 12 months was an increase of $20 million from a year ago.

The savings go even higher if you consider the reduction in costs for food stamps and medical assistance programs, Taylor said.

WIN is a federally funded program operated jointly by the MESC and the Department of Social Services. It arranges for training and jobs for members of families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (ADC).

For the 12 months ending Aug. 31, WIN has found jobs for 16,700 individuals, an increase of 5,000 over the previous year.

Both men and women took jobs under WIN. The average starting wage was $3.61 an hour compared to $3.27 an hour for the previous year.

Many employers qualify for a special tax credit when they hire WIN clients. The number of tax credits authorized for the year has increased by 44 percent to total 2,600.

The MESC Job Service has more than 180 locations across the state and its WIN program is in operation in each of Michigan's 83 counties. The MESC is the state's third largest agency with more than 4,700 employees.

High quality produce is key to storing vegetables

The keys to storing vegetables are to start with high quality produce and give each crop just the right temperature and level of humidity.

Storage will never improve the quality of the vegetables, said Robert Herner, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University. The best you can hope for is to maintain the quality you start with. It's more likely that some lessening of quality will occur, so you should select only the best quality produce for storage.

Harvest vegetables for storage when they are cool, he suggested, and be careful not to injure them in any way. Bruises, cuts and other injuries offer spoilage organisms a good place to get a foothold. So do not try to store damaged produce.

Storage areas and containers should be clean to prevent the spread of molds, fungi and other spoilage organisms.

The best storage conditions for some vegetables may be difficult to provide in the home, Herner observed. High humidity is especially difficult, unless you have a damp, unheated basement storage room. This may be just the place for potatoes, cabbage, cauliflower and Chinese cabbage. Temperatures of 32-40 degrees and 80-90 percent humidity should not be hard to maintain there.

Turnips, rutabagas, salsify, parsnips, beets and carrots do best in temperatures between 32 and 40 degrees and 90-95 percent humidity. A garbage can with layers of moist sand or leaves alternating with layers of vegetables is a good way to provide these conditions. If you don't have a cool basement to keep the can in, you can bury it in the garden with a layer of soil-covered straw over it to keep the material inside from freezing.

A basement that is good for storing potatoes is not well suited to storing onions, beans, peas and soybeans. They need a cool, dry storage place. An unheated attic room where the produce won't freeze is one possibility.

Harvest onions for storage only after the tops have died down. Then let the bulbs dry in a well-ventilated place for a week to 10 days. Store them in slatted crates or mesh bags or in thin layers on shelves. If stored in closed containers or deep layers, they will heat up and spoil. Beans, peas and soybeans, on the other hand, should be kept in closed containers.

Pumpkins and winter squash keep best at temperatures between 50-60 degrees and low humidity. For best results, place them on a shelf so that they don't touch one another.

Seniors get reduced rate

Reduced admission charges for Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum are available to individual senior citizens on Wednesdays and to groups of senior citizens on weekdays now through April.

Senior citizens in groups of 10 or more pay only $1.50 for museum or village admissions, Monday through Friday. Individual senior citizens pay $1.50 for village or museum admissions on Wednesdays. The regular autumn adult admission is $3.50 for the village and $3 for the museum.

In addition, individual senior citizens can get the same reduction on Oct. 1, for the Museum or the village. That day is the second day of the old-fashioned Autumn Harvest Weekend — Sept. 30 - Oct. 2, in the village.

Senior citizens also can take advantage of a special luncheon for groups of 10 or more on weekdays now through Dec. 16. There is a choice of a $4.25 or a $5 luncheon. The package includes admission to Greenfield Village or Henry Ford Museum.

In addition, there is a dinner program available seven days a week between now and Dec. 16. The $6.50 charge covers admission to the museum or the village, plus a buffet dinner at Heritage Hall in Henry Ford Museum. This is available only to groups of 40 or more.

Advance reservations are required for these group arrangements. No reservations are required for individual senior citizens on Wednesdays or on Oct. 1. Call (313) 271-1620, ext. 414, for more information. Prices subject to change.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

After the Revolutionary War, a source of land was to be had in "land warrants" which were issued to returning soldiers in recognition of their contribution to the war effort. Since most of the soldiers had little interest in settling the land, an active market in their warrants developed. Many large tracts of land were assembled in this manner. Philadelphia was the center of postrevolutionary land speculation. Robert Morris, the "financier of the revolution," was a dominant figure of the period.

Residents can speak out on juvenile justice changes

Wayne County parents, school and local government officials, youth service agencies and other interested citizens should have the opportunity to speak out on the proposed changes in the state juvenile justice system "because Wayne County has special needs that sets it apart from most of Michigan's other 82 counties".

That's the feeling of four Wayne County women commissioners who have introduced a resolution calling for county-wide public hearings to assess what impact the new plan would have on juvenile services and treatment in Wayne County — and on the role of the family, the schools and the juvenile courts.

The resolution will be presented at a Sept. 20 meeting of the Board of Commissioners by Commissioners Jackie L. Currie (D-Detroit), Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia), Jarrette Simmons, vice chairman of the Board (D-Detroit), and Maxine Young (D-Detroit).

The Michigan Juvenile Justice Services Commission, which was created to study juvenile services and laws throughout the state, has recommended 126 complex changes in juvenile policy.

Two controversial recommendations include removing status offenders (truants, runaways, curfew violators and other minor offenses not applicable to adults) from the courts and the police. Children would have to seek help voluntarily. The other recommendation would transfer 17-year-olds from the jurisdiction of adult courts to juvenile court.

"Wayne County's juvenile needs and problems are unique, immense and complex and cannot be solved or even attacked by welding them into one simple plan that is expected to work in the quiet northern communities of upper Michigan and the heavily populated areas of urban Wayne County," Mrs. Currie said.

All four commissioners felt that there has not been enough local input into the new proposals.

Mrs. Young said: "All of us are mothers and know what a difficult job it is to raise children. Some of the new proposals would destroy family control and send children who desperately need help into the streets."

Mrs. Simmons added: "If enacted by the State Legislature, the new proposals would seriously alter the way we handle young people in Wayne County — not to mention the staggering effect they would have on the county budget."

The commissioners cited federal and state crime statistics to point out the seriousness of juvenile offenses in Wayne County.

They reported that 35.6 percent of all persons apprehended for Part I crimes in Michigan (murder, rape, armed robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft) in 1975 were between the ages of 7 and 16.

In 1976, nearly 7,000 petitions (charges) were filed in Wayne County Juvenile Court for violations of state and federal laws and another 18,000 petitions were filed for minor offenses.

"Our courts already are overburdened," Mrs. Dumas said. "If we were to even bring the 17-year-olds back into the juvenile system, our staff needs in the juvenile courts would have to be increased five times."

"In 1976, there were 6,608 17-year-olds arrested in Wayne County for serious crimes," she added. "The present Wayne County Youth Home can handle 262 youths. Our criminal justice experts say we'd need a youth home to hold at least 3,000."

The commissioners have asked that the Wayne County Board of Commissioners conduct the public hearings through the board's Human Resources and General Government committees.

Section 7. Security for Bonds. The bonds hereby authorized, together with interest thereon, shall not be a general obligation of the Township but shall be payable solely from the net income and revenues to be derived from the operation of the System. To pay such principal and interest as and when the same shall become due, there is hereby created a statutory first lien upon the whole of the net revenues of said System to continue until the payment in full of the principal and interest on said bonds and said revenues and shall be set aside for the purpose and identified as the "Water Supply System Revenue Bond - Bond and Interest Redemption Fund Account," as hereinafter specified.

Section 8. Custodian of Funds; Supervised Bank Accounts; Funds. The Township Treasurer shall be custodian of all funds belonging to and associated with the System and such funds shall be deposited in Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Romulus, Michigan (hereinafter called "Depository Bank"), which bank is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. In the event that the Government is a holder of any of the bonds herein authorized, all monies in excess of $15,000 in the supervised bank account shall be secured by the depository bank in advance in accordance with United States Treasury Department Circular No. 176 and the Township Treasurer shall execute a fidelity bond in an amount not less than $60,000.00 with a surety company approved by the Government, and the Government and the Township shall be named as coobligees in such bond and the amount thereof shall not be reduced without the prior written consent of the Government. The Township Treasurer is hereby directed to create the following funds and accounts into which the bond proceeds and the revenues and income from the System shall be deposited, which account shall be established and maintained except as otherwise provided, so long as any of the bonds hereby authorized remain unpaid.

A. CONSTRUCTION ACCOUNT. The proceeds of the bonds hereby authorized and a sum from funds on hand of not less than the amount necessary to complete the cost of the Project shall be deposited in the Construction Account in the Depository Bank. In the event the Government is a holder of any of the bonds herein authorized, then said account shall be established as a supervised bank account and such proceeds shall be withdrawn on the orders of the Township only on checks signed by its Treasurer and countersigned by the County Supervisor of the FmHA. Said monies shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bonds were issued.

Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale remaining after completion of the Project herein authorized may in the discretion of the Township Board, to the extent of fifteen percent (15 percent) of the amount of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance, be used for further improvements, enlargements and extensions to the System, provided that at the time of such expenditure such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. Any remaining balance after such expenditure shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and shall be used for such purposes as allowed by law.

In the event that the Government is a holder of any or all of the bonds any unexpended balance of the proceeds of the sale remaining after completion of the Project herein authorized shall be paid immediately into the bond and interest redemption fund as hereinafter specified and shall be used only for the redemption, or purchase at not more than the fair market value, of outstanding bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this Ordinance.

After completion of the Project and disposition of remaining bond proceeds, if any, pursuant to the provisions of this Section, the Construction Account shall be closed.

B. WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND ACCOUNT. Upon the effective date of this Ordinance, the gross income and revenue shall be set aside into a separate account to be designated the Water Supply System Receiving Fund Account, and monies so deposited therein shall be expended and used only in the manner and order as follows:

1) Operation and Maintenance Account. Prior to the beginning of each fiscal year the Township will prepare an annual budget of said system for the ensuing fiscal year itemized on the basis of monthly requirements, a copy of such budget shall be mailed without request to the FmHA as long as the Government is holder of any of said bonds prior to adoption for review and upon written request to any other bond holders. Upon the effective date of this Ordinance, there shall be set aside and deposited each quarter pursuant to the budget a sufficient portion of the income and revenue in the Operation and Maintenance Account to pay the reasonable and necessary current expenses of administration, operating and maintaining said system for the ensuing quarter.

2) Water Supply System Revenue Bond - Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. After the transfer required in (1) above, there shall be transferred each quarter from the Water Supply System Receiving Fund Account, before any other expenditures or transfer therefrom, and deposited in the Water Supply System Revenue Bond - Bond and Interest Redemption Fund Account for payment of principal and interest on the bonds a sum equal to at least ½ of the amount equal to the interest due on the next ensuing interest due date and beginning January 1, 1979 not less than ¼ of the principal maturing on January 1, 1980 and January 1st of each year thereafter. If for any reason there is a failure to make such quarterly deposit then an amount equal to the deficiency shall be set aside and deposited in the Redemption Fund Account of the net revenues in the ensuing quarter or quarters, which amount shall be in addition to the regular quarterly deposit required during such succeeding quarter or quarters.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund a separate account to be known as the Bond Reserve Account, into which there shall be paid in equal quarterly installments from the revenues of the System after provision has been made for the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the current requirements of the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, the sum of at least $1,500.00 per quarter until there is accumulated in such fund the sum of $62,000.00. Except as hereinafter provided, no further deposits need be made into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the purposes of the Bond Reserve Account once the sum of $62,000.00 has been deposited therein. The moneys in the said Bond Reserve Account shall be used solely for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds as to which there would otherwise be default.

If at any time it shall be necessary to use moneys in the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues first received thereafter which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for operation and maintenance or for current principal and interest requirements.

No further payments need be made into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund after enough of the bonds have been retired so that the amount then held in said Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), is equal to the entire amount of principal and interest which will be payable at the time of maturity of all the bonds then remaining outstanding.

3) General Purpose Account. The balance of income and revenue after the transfers required in (1) and (2) above have been made, shall be deposited to a General Purpose Account which Account shall be used and disbursed only for the purpose of paying the cost of repairing or replacing any damage to the system which may be caused by any unforeseen catastrophe, for making extensions or improvements to the system, and when necessary for the purpose of making payments of principal and interest on the bonds hereby authorized if the amount in the Redemption Fund Account and Bond Reserve Account is not sufficient to meet such payments, then these funds shall be transferred to the Redemption Fund. The total of such deposits to the General Purpose Account and balance of said account need not exceed the sum of $15,000.00. The funds in the General Purpose Account may be invested in obligations of the United States. Any such investment will be a part of the General Purpose Account.

4) Surplus Moneys. Whenever there shall accumulate in the Redemption Fund Account amounts in excess of the requirements during the next eighteen months for paying the principal of bonds falling due and interest on outstanding bonds, and in excess of the requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Account and the Reserve Account hereinafter established, such excess may be used by the Township for redemption of bonds in the manner set out below.

All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any operating year after satisfying the above requirements shall be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and used to call bonds for redemption, or at the option of the Township transferred to the General Purpose Account and used for the purpose of which said Account was established: Provided, However, that if there should be a deficit in the Operation and Maintenance Fund, Bond and Interest Redemption Fund or the General Purpose Account, on account of defaults in setting aside therein the amounts hereinbefore required, then transfers shall be made from such funds remaining in the Receiving Fund to such funds in the priority and order named, to the extent of such deficits. Surplus moneys may be used to retire junior bond issues.

Section 9. Rates and Charges. Prior to the issuance of the bonds, rates and charges for the services of said utility will be fixed in an amount sufficient to pay the costs of operation and maintaining the said System and to leave an amount of revenues adequate for the principal and interest, debt services, reserve, replacements and improvements requirements and all other requirements provided herein, and otherwise comply with the covenants herein provided. The rates and charges for all services and facilities rendered by the System shall be reasonable and just, taking into consideration the costs and value of said System and the cost of maintaining, repairing, and operating the same and the amounts necessary for the retirement of all bonds and accruing interest on all bonds, and there shall be charged such rates and charges as shall be adequate to meet the requirements of this and the preceding section. The charges for water service which are, under the provisions of Section 21, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, made a lien on all premises served thereby, unless notice is given that a tenant is responsible, are hereby recognized to constitute such lien and whenever any such charges against any piece of property shall be delinquent for six (6) months, the Township official or officials in charge of the collection thereof shall certify annually, on August 1st of each year to the Township tax assessing officer the fact of such delinquency, whereupon such delinquent charge shall be entered upon the next tax roll as a charge against such premises and the lien thereof enforced in the same manner as general Township taxes such premises are collected and the lien thereof enforced, provided, However, where notice is given that a tenant is responsible for such charges and service as provided by said Section 21, no further service shall be rendered such premises until a cash deposit of not less than one full year's service shall have been made as security for payment of such charges and service.

Section 10. No Free Service. No free service shall be furnished by said System to any individual, firm or corporation, public or private or to any public Agency or instrumentality.

Section 11. Covenants. The Township covenants and agrees, so long as any of the bonds hereby authorized remain unpaid, as follows:

a) It will comply with applicable State laws and regulations and continually operate and maintain the system in good condition.

b) (i) It will maintain complete books and records relating to the operation of the System and its financial affairs and will cause such books and records to be audited annually at the end of each fiscal year and an audit report prepared, and as long as the Government is the holder of any of the bonds, will furnish FmHA, without request, a copy of each audit report and will furnish any other holder of any bonds a copy of such report upon written request. As long as the Government is the holder of any of the bonds herein authorized the FmHA shall have the right to inspect the System and the records, accounts, and data relating thereto at all reasonable times.

(ii) It will file with the Municipal Finance Commission each year, as soon as is possible, not later than ninety days after the close of the fiscal year, a report, on forms prepared by the commission, made in accordance with the accounting method of the municipality, completely setting forth the financial operation of such fiscal year for its own purposes. A copy of such report shall be concurrently furnished the FmHA as long as the Government is a holder of any of the bonds herein authorized.

(iii) The Township will also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made each year by a recognized independent certified public accountant, and will cause such accountant to mail a copy of such audit to the FmHA if the Government is the holder of the bonds or to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the bonds. Such audit shall be completed and so made available not later than three (3) months after the close of each operating year, and said audit may, at the option of the Township Board be used in lieu of the statement on forms prepared by the Municipal Finance Commission and all purposes for which said forms are required to be used by this Ordinance.

c) The Township will maintain and carry, for the benefit of the holders of the bonds, insurance on all physical properties of the System, of the kinds and in the amounts normally carried by municipalities engaged in the operation of water supply systems. All moneys received shall be applied solely to the replacement and restoration of the property damaged or destroyed, and to the extent not so used, shall be used for the purpose of calling bonds. As long as the Government is a holder of any of the bonds herein authorized, said insurance will be in an amount not less than such amounts as may be specified by LETTER OF INTENT TO MEET CONDITIONS, Form FmHA 442-46 and said insurance shall be approved by the FmHA.

d) It will not borrow any money from any source or enter into any contract or agreement to incur any other liabilities that may in any way be a lien upon the revenues or otherwise encumber the System so as to impair revenues therefrom, without obtaining the prior written consent of the FmHA if the Government is a holder of any of the bonds authorized herein, nor shall it transfer or use any portion of the revenues derived in the operation of the system for any purpose not herein specifically authorized.

At your favorite mill

It's time for some cider and doughnuts

As the leaves shed their summer green for fall's bright red, orange and brown, the mouth-watering vision of tangy cider and fresh doughnuts sends thousands of families to Michigan cider mills, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This delectable combination certainly is an exhilarating way to put yourself into the spirit of the fall season," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "Although the sweet cider is available all year in many areas, it's in the fall, when freshly picked apples are turned into the pure juice, that this delicious drink is most popular."

Auto Club's 1977 Cider Mill Guide lists 69 southern Michigan operations — two more than last year. Thirty-two mills are located in southeast Michigan, 25 in east Michigan and 12 in west Michigan.

Some mills have their own apple orchards and invite visitors to pick the ripe fruit. Other facilities allow customers to bring in their own apples and containers for pressing.

The ideal time for picking apples is from early September through October. It also is the peak time for cider mill operation, but many facilities stay open during the winter with some extending seasons into the spring until stored apples are gone.

"Although the taste of cider is somewhat uniform, brands may vary according to the types of apples used," Ratke said.

It is possible to spend many hours at a cider mill enjoying such features as horse-drawn wagon rides, flea markets, gift shops and restaurants. Several cider mills include pumpkin patches and one Lennon cider mill provides a country-western show.

Auto Club advises persons interested in watching pressing operations to telephone ahead since many mills operate on an irregular schedule, dictated by the availability of apples and the demand for cider.

The cost of cider this fall should range from $1.60 to $2.50 per gallon, with doughnuts priced between $1.20 and $1.70 a dozen.

4-wheel winners

Although the recent Romulus Recreation Department Skateboard Contest was advertised and geared for ages 10 and above, several of the younger set showed up ready to compete. Their ambition, and ability, was rewarded as six skated off with ribbons for their efforts. In the downhill slalom, Monica Block, 10, took first, followed by Dawn

Do you know what's what in a disaster?

Should a personal disaster such as a fire, tornado or flood strike as you are reading this, could you provide an accurate account of all your personal belongings to your insurance claims adjuster?

Take a little test.

Close your eyes.

Now, try to accurately describe everything in your home by model number, year of purchase, approximate cost, replacement value and serial number.

Can't remember? Don't feel bad; very few people can. But in the event of a major loss such as a fire to tornado that destroys much of your property, the Insurance Information Institute says you may be asked to do just that.

That's a pretty good reason why you should prepare in advance an accurate inventory of all your personal belongings, then in the event of an unexpected catastrophe you'll be able to settle an insurance claim much easier. Instead of guessing—and maybe missing an important item or valuing something too low—you are sure your record of loss is accurate.

Although no insurance company would deny a claim just because the inventory record is inadequate, the company may require proof of ownership and cost before paying for a loss. An inventory list would eliminate many questions as to value or owner ship.

In addition to providing a record of ownership, an inventory can serve as a clue to inadequacies in coverage. Some items, such as money, furs, jewelry, gems, watches, securities, negotiable instruments and the like are limited in coverage for certain losses. If you have any valuable items in these categories, you might want to check with your agent or company representative for additional coverage. The important thing is avoid disappointment by insuring that you have enough coverage.

Unusual items (antiques, fine art, coin or stamp collections) on which it may be difficult to place a value should receive careful attention. A special policy amendment and additional premium, generally relatively modest, will protect such items.

The initial inventory will be the most time consuming, since you will have so many things to list. On the list, note the model, make, date of purchase, cost, whether new or used when purchased, serial number and any special feature that might affect the value of the item.

Keep your inventory in a safe place (like a safety deposit box). If it is kept at home, it should be in a location which is dry, fireproof, and secure. You might even want to give your insurance agent and/or someone else a copy in case the original is lost or destroyed.

If you rely on photographs, it will be necessary to take an abundance of shots, overlapping most so nothing will be missing.

Another way to keep a film record is to make a home movie of the house, slowly covering every detail, including inside closets and dresser drawers.

Date the photographs and films. Printed inventory sheets make the job easier, but are not necessary. If you want a pre-printed form, ask your agent or company representative.

To determine the proper level of coverage, it will be necessary to confer with your agent. For contents, settlement of claims is based in most cases on "actual cash value". This concept is basically the cost of replacement at time of loss, less a deduction for depreciation. The rate of depreciation (or loss of value) would depend on age, use and obsolescence of the item. Clothing depreciates rapidly, while furniture retains its value longer.

Remember, any settlement for a loss other than that "scheduled" in the policy — for example when a specific value is given for a specific item — is based not on what it would take to replace the items lost, but rather on the "actual cash value". Your agent can help you determine a reasonable estimate of actual cash value of your property so that you are not under or overinsured.

Why take an inventory:

(1) To prove your claim in the event of loss and to help with income tax deductions;

(2) To remind yourself about items that might be easily overlooked;

(3) To locate special items that are not fully insured because of policy limits; and

(4) To make sure your coverage keeps up with the value of your personal property.

Debbie Costa is bride

Newly wed Taylers honeymoon in Toronto

Holy Trinity Chapel on the campus of Eastern Michigan University was the setting August 20 for the double ring ceremony which united Deborah Joyce Costa and Glenn Alan Tayler in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Larry Delaney presided at the five o'clock rite before some 150 relatives and friends including the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Costa of 43260 Bemis Rd., Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sala of 714 Savage Rd., Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tayler of Penbury Lane, West Bloomfield.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride was gown in a white organza creation designed with a V-necked lace bodice with beading to the waistline. The long sheer sleeves which ended over the wrist were fashioned with an oversleeve which belled at the elbow. Her organza skirt, which cascaded into a chapel train, was comprised of four tiers of ruffles, each outlined with scalloped lace.

A white beaded headpiece held the bride's cathedral length veil of silk illusion which also was trimmed in lace. Completing her bridal finery was a colonial bouquet of white silk roses, stephanotis, pale blue mums and white flocked baby's breath. The bouquet has since been made into a centerpiece for the couple's new home.

Mrs. Bob Anderson of Belleville, a college friend of the bride, was asked to be honor attendant. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Julie Tayler of Wixom formerly of Belleville; the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Costa of Ypsilanti, and Daren Mars of Belleville.

Their pink chiffon gowns were styled with scoop necks and A-line skirts with three tiers of chiffon starting at the knees. Chiffon also formed capes over the shoulders of the dresses.

They wore wreaths of dried flowers in their hair and carried single pink roses and blue flocked baby's breath tied with matching ribbon streamers. All the head-dresses were made by the bride and her matron of honor.

Michelle Tayler served as flowergirl at her brother's wedding, carrying a small colonial bouquet of white mums and baby's breath. Her little pink polyester frock, trimmed with flowers, featured short belled sleeves and a round neckline.

Best man was Bob Anderson of Belleville. Groomsmen included Larry Farr of Belleville; the bride's brother, Don Costa of Ypsilanti, and Jerry Novatny of Belleville.

Music for the ceremony included "Evergreen", "Theme from Love Story", "The Wedding March", "Nadia's Theme from Young and the Restless", "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face", and "Follow Me." Steve Gnew provided organ music. The two soloists, Beth Burke and Diane Mitchell, also played the piano and guitar, respectively.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Costa chose to wear a mint green polyester formal with an overlay of matching chiffon. She tucked baby's breath in her hair and wore her white orchid on her wrist. The bridegroom's mother donned a coral polyester gown overlayed with floral-patterned chiffon. She, too, was honored with a white orchid wrist corsage.

Some 275 guests gathered at the PNA Hall for the dinner-dance reception which followed. The young couple later departed for a week-long honeymoon at the Hyatt Regency in Toronto, Ont. and since returning have been at home to their friends at 41226 N. Woodbury Dr., Belleville.

The new Mrs. Tayler, a 1973 graduate of Belleville High School earned her bachelor of arts degree at Eastern Michigan University in 1977 and is currently employed as an art teacher at Chapel Elementary School in Ypsilanti.

Her husband, also a 1973 Belleville High School alumnus, holds a bachelor of science degree in recreation from EMU. At the present time he works as a sales representative for the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Therehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at the Spaghetti Bender in Ypsilanti.

Retiring letter carrier bid farewell

A dinner party Sept. 21 at Nickerson's marked the pending retirement of rural letter carrier, Bob Whalen, who was leaving the U.S. Postal Department after some 30 years of combined military and postal service.

Bob and his wife, Leota, were seated at the head table to receive accolades from his co-workers at the Belleville Post Office and their spouses — 42, in all. Special guests for the evening were the Whalen's daughter and son-in-law, Karen and Bob Smith of Belleville; Leota's twin sister and her husband, Leona and Henry Pierce of Dearborn, and close friends, Lucille and Albert Carpenter of Livonia.

Arrangements for the party were made by Verne Clark who asked Ray Van Buhler to serve as emcee for the occasion. A specially decorated cake bearing best wishes was presented along with a gift certificate from the group.

Postmaster Raymond J. O'Neil then took over the speaker's reins and read the certificate of appreciation from Regional Postmaster General John Dorin.

A golf hat, balls and tees, a gift from Harry Wilsey, (a fellow rural carrier) were significant "hints" of what the retiree plans to do with his spare time.

Others reminiscing over Bob's quarter century in the Post Office were Bert

G. Smith, Superintendent of Postal Operations; George C. Wilson who recently retired from that position; Dale Phillips, a city carrier who brought up Bob's and his childhood days in Royal Oak; and Debbie Cox, who was broken in as a rural sub carrier by the retiree.

Bob, who departed from his job Sept. 23, has spent most of his life in the community. His appointment as a temporary substitute clerk came in June of 1949. Seven years later he received his regular clerk status and in 1959 was reassigned to city carrier, C-2. Then on June 9, 1973, he took over the duties of rural route seven, the number being changed to route one in 1976.

Bob's duties will be taken over by Norm McNally, who with his wife, Charlene, was among those attending.

Last of four showers held

Pre-nuptial parties on the calendar for October bride-elect, Judy Hudge, came to a close Sunday, Sept. 18, with a miscellaneous shower planned by her aunts, Mary Anne Hudge of Ann Arbor and Lee Smith and Shirley Hudge of Belleville.

The finale, held at the latter's home on Rawsonville Road, got under motion with punch and a 1:30 salad luncheon. Blue and white table appointments carried out the wedding color scheme as did overhead streamers and bouquets of mixed asters.

Guests taking home prizes won during the game session were Kathy Bokon of Farmington Hills, Mary Ann Emerson, Helen Sietz, Jan Ross, Cassie Chudzinski, Marge Szuma and the honoree.

Door prize winners, determined by miniature wedding bands and a tiny bag of rice taped under two chairs, went to Grace Sietz of Trenton and Helen Sietz of Belleville.

With her two cousins, Nancy Hudge of Ann Arbor and Teresa Hudge, and future honor attendant, Sheila Stabnau, helping with the packages, Judy then opened the many items which will help fill cupboards, closets, drawers and pantry.

Relatives and friends, 27 in all, came from Evanston, Ill.; Farmington Hills, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Trenton and Belleville for the afternoon festivities.

The wedding ceremony, at which Judy will become Mrs. Thomas Sayre, will be held at St. Anthony's Church.

Pre-nuptial showers honor Debbie

Prior to her recent marriage to Glenn Alan Tayler, Debbie Costa had the pleasure of being "guest of honor" at two bridal showers.

The first, attended by some 110 relatives and friends, was given by Joyce Costa and Dianne Sala, mothers of the prospective bride couple, a group of aunts, Mildred Sauder, Margret Karchewski, Rosemary Myers, Evelyn Kremkow and Sarah Sollars, and cousins, Shirley Gabbert, Pat Jajuga, Sherry Emala and Mary Ann Reynolds.

For the party held at the PNA Hall, the tables were appointed in the pink and blue color scheme of the wedding; the head table centered with four bridesmaid dolls and a flowergirl doll in pink surrounding a bride doll. All were made by the bride-elect and her future honor attendant, Ethel Anderson.

Pink corsages were given to each of the guests who were also presented a gift before departing. Special door prizes were also awarded.

Highlighting the afternoon party was a buffet dinner featuring Polish and Italian favorites as well as a cake made by the honoree's mother. A watermelon sail boat with a good luck sign served as centerpiece for the meal with a pink and blue wishing well made by Mildred Sauder and daughter, Melissa, as another decorative addition.

Among those attending from Dearborn, Detroit, Wixom, Hillsdale, Milford, Brighton, Harper Woods, Westland, Inkster, Howell, West Bloomfield, Livonia, Mt. Pleasant, Garden City and Belleville was the great-grandmother of the prospective bridegroom, 80-year-old Mrs. Vickers.

Besides bringing a gift for the young couple's future home, guests brought along canned goods to fill their pantry.

In planning the shower, the hostesses didn't forget the menfolk who were invited in and fed after the distaff side had done their "thing."

Later in the evening the Nick Costas entertained the group at a party in their Bemis Road home.

Weekend guests of the Bert G. Smiths of Edison Lake Road were their daughter and son-in-law, Luanne and Pete Schonfeld of Evanston, Ill. Luanne came home especially to attend the bridal shower given for her cousin, Judy Hudge, on Sept. 18. During their stay they also visited their respective grandmothers, Mrs. Alonzo Smith of Willis and Mrs. Edgar Haugom of Imlay City, both of whom are ill.

Pink, blue motif used at shower

On Monday evening, Sept. 19, Pat Flavell was hostess at a stork shower for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Flavell of Ypsilanti. Among the relatives and friends present were three future great-grandmothers.

A color scheme of blue, pink and white was used and the gifts were placed under a decorated umbrella presided over by a little baby bear. Two door prizes were won by Mary Morgan and Rital Daniels.

Guests were present from Royal Oak, Wayne, Milan, Ypsilanti and Belleville. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the party which was held at the Fred Flavell home on S. Biggs Street.

Granddaughter new addition to Lewis clan

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Lewis of Belleville are announcing the arrival of their first granddaughter on Sept. 18 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. Already the grandparents of three boys, the Lewises welcomed the new "touch of femininity" in their family.

Titled "Crystal Gail", the newcomer weighed in at 7 lbs., 3 ozs. and is the daughter of Keith and Linda Lewis of Willow Road, Milan.

Crystal is the second granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Moore of Willis.

They're engaged

Mr. and Mrs. George Craven of Fisher Road, Belleville, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Diane, to John Eick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eick of East Lansing.

Miss Craven, whose mother is clerk of Van Buren Township, is a 1974 graduate of Belleville High School. Her fiancé is a 1974 alumnus of East Lansing High School.

Both young people are in their senior year at the University of Michigan School of Music and both are former members of the Michigan Marching Band.

As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

Flavells honored on silver wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Flavell were guests of honor at a dinner given by their daughter, Patricia Jean, at their home on Biggs Street in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary Sept. 17.

Present for the occasion were the couple's mothers, Mrs. Lily Flavell and Mrs. Rachel Hamilton, and Robert Tator, Pat's fiancé. Later in the evening a neighbor, Mrs. Alta Champion, joined them for special cake and coffee.

On Sunday, Sept. 18, a surprise anniversary dinner, hosted by their children at the Briarwood Hilton, was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Flavell. Among the 16 members present were again the two mothers, Lily Flavell and Rachel Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hamilton, David and Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flavell of Ypsilanti, Fred Flavell Jr. and friend, Barbara Grenay, and Pat Flavell and her fiancé, Bob Tator.

For outdoor eating

Imagine a warm Indian summer Saturday and you're hosting a gang after the big game. There's still time to enjoy an outdoor feast with the food "prep" done in the kitchen. Meat loaves go a long way with the baked-in flavor of Open Pit barbecue sauce as ingredient and topping. A crock of steaming baked beans, creamy coleslaw, crusty bread and nibbles make the hosting job easy. (Photo courtesy Open Pit barbecue sauce.)

Outdoor fare for after the big game

Who said cookouts are for summer only? What about those wonderful warm Indian summer Saturdays when eating outdoors is the ideal way to feed a houseful of hungry people after the game? Outdoor eating has been a part of America's heritage since pioneers crossed the country with barbecue in hand.

This kind of barbecue is different; it's done easily inside and brought outdoors. Here's a classic menu that's easy enough to prepare in the morning and calls for just the finishing touches when you round up the gang. A barbecued meat loaf depends on a sauce, and this recipe for two loaves includes the usual ingredients along with Open Pit barbecue sauce that adds a zesty flavor. As the meat loaves bake in the oven, additional all-purpose barbecue sauce spread over the tops of the loaves cooks its rich, tomato-ey flavor into the meat. Moist and delicious! Count on about twenty slices from the two loaves.

Along with the hearty meat loaves, what could be more traditional than piping hot baked beans that go a long way on flavor and servings. No time to prepare coleslaw? There's always the local "deli," where you can pick up crusty bread, too. Nibble foods round out the menu — crisp celery sticks and fresh cherry tomatoes. If you can scout around and find a handsome blue-white enamel western-style coffeepot, so much the better for a final outdoor roundup of the season.

Barbecued Meat Loaf

- 1 bottle (18 oz.) all-purpose barbecue sauce, any flavor
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons dried parsley flakes
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
- 5 pounds ground beef

Measure $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of the barbecue sauce and set aside. Combine eggs, milk, salt and parsley; add remaining barbecue sauce and the onion. Stir in bread crumbs. Add bread mixture to meat; mix thoroughly. Divide mixture in half and shape into two loaves in a large shallow baking pan. Brush lightly with part of the measured barbecue sauce. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 20 minutes, brushing occasionally with remaining barbecue sauce. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

Garden Club holds meet at Belle Isle

The Huron Valley Garden Club traveled to Belle Isle for its first meeting of the year Sept. 12. Prior to arriving on the island, members enjoyed lunch at Sinbad's on the Detroit River.

While at Belle Isle the group viewed the gardens, greenhouses and aquarium and were informed that the program chairman this season is Mrs. Kathy Rennell. Fifteen clubsters and one guest, Mrs. Cal Rekshen, took part in the outing. Mrs. Eunice Kause, president, conducted the business session.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Budd.

Restaurant Review

Cyprus Gardens revisited

On Jan. 20 of this year, Associated Newspapers began its popular Restaurant Review column.

It has now been more than nine months since that column started, and since nothing remains the same, we have made the decision to re-visit many of those restaurants we've reviewed, to see how they are doing, and what, if any, improvements, of renovations, have been made for the benefit of their customers.

The first restaurant visited by the ANP's roving connoisseur was Steve Stylianou's Cyprus Gardens. Join us then in revisiting Steve and his fine restaurant.

Cyprus Gardens, located at the Harvard Square Shopping Center at 5830 Sheldon Road, features a menu of Greek, Italian, and American foods. With an enlarged and remodeled dining room, now seating 150 people, the Gardens still has retained its comfortable family atmosphere.

Steve and his wife Rita, have not forgotten the reason for their success. Personal attention, excellent service and well-prepared food have brought people from miles around to visit Cyprus Gardens.

Leading figures from government and industry, regularly make their lunch and dinner selections from Steve's menu, as well as shoppers from the nearby stores.

On a typical day you might find the supervisor of Canton Township enjoying Shish Kebob with his Grecian salad, or you might witness a business meeting of the leading builders in the area.

Something for everybody is available at the Gardens.

On my last trip to Cyprus Gardens, I had selected the lamb shish kebob; the other members of the clan ordered beef shish kebob, with salads.

This time I thought I would give the American menu items a try. The kids ordered roast beef, ham, and ground beef sandwiches, while I opted for Polish sausage with sauerkraut.

My logic for ordering the Polish sausage convinced me that if Steve could properly prepare that dish, he could do anything.

As usual the service was very good. I had the good fortune of being served by Rita, but the other customers also were being treated very well.

The food arrived quickly and was hot. Portions were more than generous, and the kids claimed that the french fries were the best they had ever tasted.

Following the main course, the kids felt that a dessert was in order. Rita suggested the strawberry pie, topped with whipped cream, and the kids required no convincing.

The bout with that piece of pie must have seriously compromised my bid to hold my caloric intake for the day to 100,000. But you don't get a chance to eat at Cyprus Gardens everyday.

All in all, the food and service were every bit as good as they were nine months ago. The only changes at Stylianou's were in the decor of the dining room.

I liked it. My kids liked it, and I would bet that you will also like it. For a change of pace, or for a daily lunch, Cyprus Gardens is highly recommended.

'Never Can Tell' opens at Hilberry

The Hilberry Theatre's 1977-78 repertory will open Oct. 7 at 8:30 p.m. with George Bernard Shaw's "You Never Can Tell", held over from last season.

When the Shaw farce opened last April, it was described by Jay Carr of the Detroit News as "wonderfully playful" and by the Free Press' Lawrence DeVine as "sharp, well-spoken and handsome looking".

"You Never Can Tell" was written at the turn of the century to satisfy the demands of London theatre managers for a comedy that would be popular with their audiences. Shaw provided this and more — some delightful satire on a number of subjects including marriage and family relationships, liberated women and progressively educated children.

Returning to the Hilberry in their last season's roles are David D. Montee as Walter, the unflappable waiter, and Douglas McBride as Finch M'Comas, the continually distressed family counselor.

New in the cast are Barbara Acker as Gloria, Richard Gustin as Valentine, Joyce Ramsay as Mrs. Clandon, Jim Birdsall as Crampton, Mary Ottman and John L. Beem as the twins and Geoffrey Beauchamp as Bohun, manipulator of the play's conclusion.

Direction is by Robert Emmett McGill, with scenic design by Russell Smith, costumes by Daniel Thomas Field and Helen Markovitch, and lighting by James A. Hatfield.

The 1977-78 season also will include new productions of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Milere's "The School for Wives", Arthur Miller's "A View from the Bridge" and "A Memory of Two Mondays", Robert Bolt's "Vivat! Vicat Regina!" and a final production to be announced later.

Brochures with complete information are available from the Hilberry Theatre Box Office (Cass and Hancock) Wayne State University, Detroit 48202. Call 577-2972 for further information.

For 1978... Chevy Chevette announces a decrease in price and an increase in value.

A lot more standard

Our nifty 2-door Chevette Hatchback just got a lot niftier. Because we've added eighteen new standard features.

Features that most people want in a car. Like a quality-built Delco AM radio, a larger 1.6 Litre engine, white stripe tires and wheel trim rings. Even swing-out rear windows.

All things considered, the new '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback is considerably more car. And a very considerable value.

New standard features on the '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback

- Delco AM radio
- 1.6 Litre engine
- Swing-out rear windows
- Reclining front bucket seats†
- White stripe tires
- Sport steering wheel
- Console
- Wheel trim rings
- Bumper rub strips
- Protective body side moldings
- Cigarette lighter
- Color-keyed instrument panel
- Glove compartment lock
- Deluxe grille... and more...

† Some early production Chevettas in dealer inventory won't have reclining seats. The suggested base price will be reduced accordingly.

The '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback is $282 less

Now here's the really good news.

We added those 18 items to the 1978 2-door Chevette Hatchback, yet, based on a comparison of manufacturer's suggested retail prices, we still kept the price $282 below what last year's model would have cost with the same equipment.

More Chevette for less money. Amazing and true.

And now there's a brand-new Chevette, too. A 4-door Hatchback with two more doors, a roomy back seat and all the new standard features, except swing-out rear windows. In fact, it has more rear seat leg room than the 1977 Toyota Corolla or Datsun B-210 4-door sedans. Even the 1977 Honda Civic Wagon.

For 1978, Chevette's a lot of car for your money.

This is it — Wayne vs. Fordson

2 undefeated Great Lakes rivals battle for the 'spoils'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

There's a lot riding on the outcome of the Wayne Memorial-Fordson football game Friday night. More than meets the naked eyes. The combatants are not only battling to extend their winning streaks to four games and remain alive in the Great Lakes 8 Conference championship race, but there is also the ultimate: a Region II playoff berth.

The loser will almost have to abandon its hopes for a post-season tournament berth and the fortunes that could go along with the playoffs — the Class A state title.

The enticements are there. And, pardon the cliché, but to the victor could go the spoils.

"We know that Fordson is a fine football team," said Wayne Coach Floyd Carter. "They are better than any team we have played yet, and we're going to have to be ready for them."

Carter will also be relieved of the pressures of awaiting for his second offspring. Floyd's wife gave birth to a 7 pound, 8 ounce boy Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia.

It's the Carters' second child. Meanwhile, back on the gridiron, Wayne chalked up its third straight victory at the expense of a visiting Portage Northern team, 20-6.

It was the first time this year that Wayne trailed and also the first time a team had scored on the Zebras.

Northern got on the scoreboard late in the first quarter when John Eton climaxed an 82-yard, 11-play drive with a 42-yard touchdown run. That came with 4:35 left in the quarter.

Chris Leverenz stopped any further damage by Northern as the senior lineman rushed in and blocked Lurges' point after attempt.

Wayne erased the deficit and took the lead early in the second quarter when quarterback Mark Korte guided the Zebras on a 69-yard drive, using up 13 plays — the last in the series a nine-yard touchdown run by Ed Turbeville. Skip Walker gave the hosts the lead for good with the extra point boot. Wayne struck again in the second half, putting an insurance TD on the scoreboard with 3:32 left in the third quarter. Mike Wilson culminated a 43-yard drive on the ninth play of the series with a three-yard touchdown run.

Wilson again made good on his kick for the extra points.

Wayne sealed the victory in the last minutes of the game as Turbeville again crossed the Northern goal line, this time from 2 yards out with 1:04 left in the game.

The Zebras had marched 31 yards in four plays for their final score. A bad center foiled Wilson's attempt for his third extra point.

"I felt we received an outstanding performance from our offense," said Carter who singled out Wilson and Turbeville for their work. "And Korte also executed the option well."

"It also showed that our team won't quit — they scored first and our players came right back at them," Carter added.

The Sports Meridian

From here and there

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

It must be frustrating to bowl a 299 game.

Ask Earl Foster who had the crowds biting their nails and standing on tables while he rolled his way to fame at Westland Bowl Friday night.

Foster also apparently didn't think much of the guy who asked him for his telephone number because he gave him a number that wasn't in service.

Or was it because of his excitement.

Anyway, the veteran kegler who bowls in the Ford Motor Company's Mixed League Friday nights started off innocently enough, but after his third consecutive strike he had people glancing over at his lane.

The tension mounted each time Foster prepared to roll and for 11 consecutive times the pins scattered and the "X" went on the scoreboard.

Then, for the 12th time Foster made his approach — and, excuse the pun, you could have heard a pin drop.

He paused, took a deep breath, and sent the ball rolling toward the pins.

The pins flew — and when the smoke cleared — "That damned 4 pin was left standing."

So close to that coveted "perfect game" and now so far away. Foster was left with an enviable 299 score.

And Jim Thompson, the unofficial statistician of high school football, informed us that the race for the two Region II playoff berths hinges a lot upon what Ann Arbor Pioneer and Portage Central do this week.

Ann Arbor has compiled 96 playoff points after three weeks and the nearest team to it in the region is Portage Central with 60.67. However, Plymouth Salem is seated third with 88 and Fordson is seventh (82.67) while Wayne is eighth with 77.33 points.

"If the area teams are to have a chance, they're going to have to pray that North Farmington knocks off Pioneer this week," Thompson reports. Then, it's a whole new ball game."

What about Fordson and Wayne Memorial's matchup this week. "It's an absolute must game for both of them," Thompson continued. "If they want to go — let me say — remain in the playoff picture, then they have to win."

Thompson who apparently buries himself in status over the weekend also noted that, "The Great Lakes 8 Conference has the best nonleague record of any league in greater metropolitan area."

"The combined won-lost record of the league is 9-1" Thompson said, "and that loss was inflicted on Monroe in the season opener."

The worst area team?

Thompson said he could provide the name, "but let's not embarrass them."

Finally, I'm the recipient of a letter attacking my stand on — I really don't know what. Please draw your own conclusions.

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

We, the parents of the student-athletes at Romulus High School paid our coaches' salaries last year.

Parents donated their time and effort and volunteered to coach if necessary.

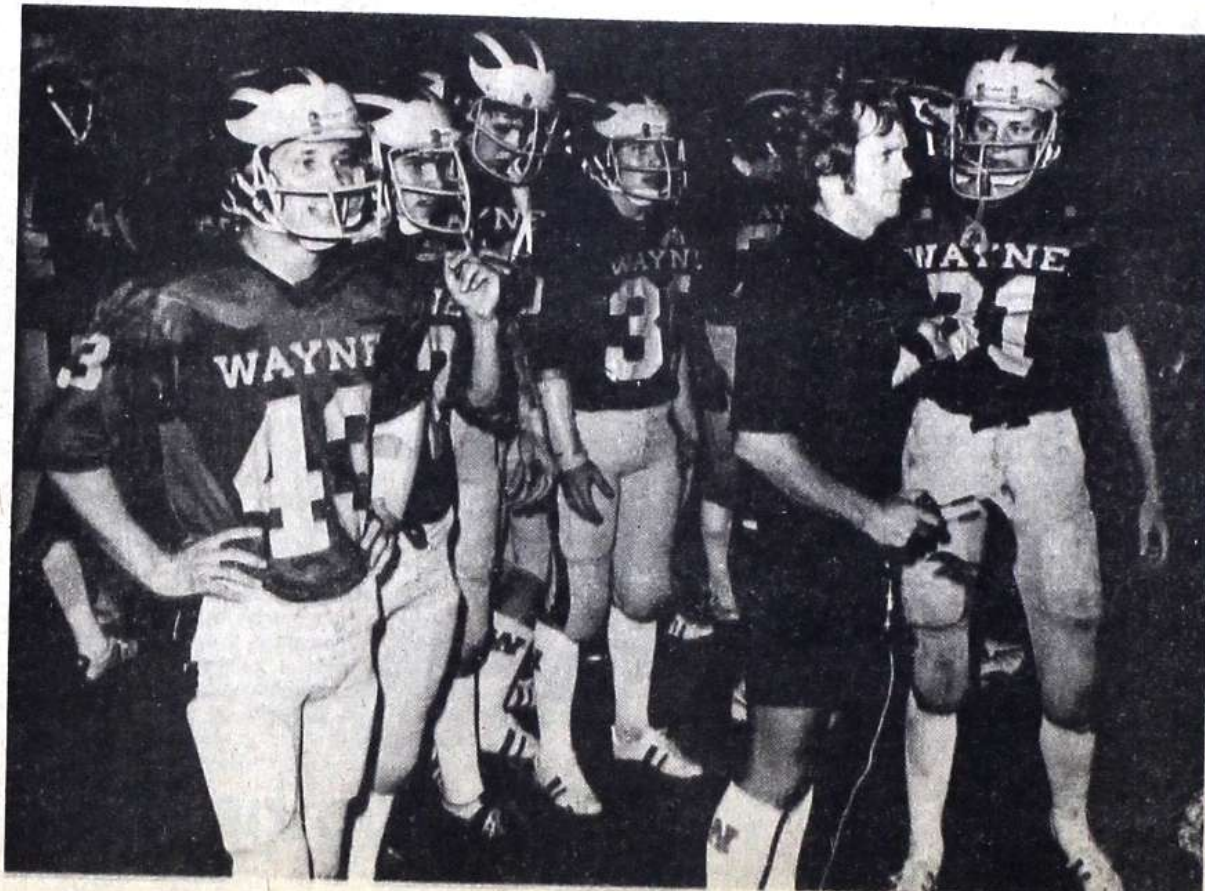

However, our astute board of education turned down everything but money. The students and parents have paid for their mistakes and we don't see why you're supporting the coaches.

You have been aware of the qualifications of our coaches in this district. Compare their salaries and abilities with other coaches in other school districts.

Ask why can't Romulus find a league to compete in and why we're considered "second stringers".

Please do not knock the parents anymore. Please look before you speak — half of the coaches in this school district can't coach and care only about the almighty dollar.

Sincerely,
A Romulus parent

GC East-bound Glenn cuts down GR Union

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Bolstered by a victory over the mastadons from Grand Rapids Union last Friday, Westland John Glenn embarks on the precarious road to Garden City East to begin its defense of the Northwest Suburban Conference football championship.

Coach Chuck Gordon's Rockets cut down a visiting Union team 20-8 to lift their non-conference record to 2-1 on the season. East, riddled with injuries, will be Westland's first conference test. The two meet Friday night 8 p.m. at East.

Gordon sees danger ahead for his charges if they think they're going to see a pushover team at East. East lost senior quarterback Joe Emery to a shoulder separation the first game of the year.

And the Panthers also entered camp later than most teams. They didn't plan to have football in the city because of a millage failure. A 11th hour reprieve in the form of state financial aid enabled Coach Gary Humphrey to gather his forces.

"We have a lot of respect for Humphrey's teams," Gordon said. "His teams are capable of playing great football and we're not taking them lightly because their record is 1-2 on the year.

"We've got to be ready to play," Gordon added.

Glenn was ready for Grand Rapids. The Westlanders got on the board on a broken play in the first quarter when quarterback Bill Lee capped a sustained drive and went in from 25-yards out when he found no receivers for a pass.

Kal DeLucas then kicked his first of two point-after. He missed his third try in the fourth quarter.

The Rockets increased their lead to 14-0 in the third quarter as Lee hooked up with Jim Irwin on a 60-yard pass-run touchdown play.

Andy Pucci accounted for Glenn's fourth quarter score when he picked off a misguided Union missile and took it back 31 yards for a touchdown.

Grand Rapids averted the shutout in the final minutes of the game when James Moody polished off a 40-yard drive with a four-yard touchdown plunge. He had 30 seconds to spare before the final whistle.

"We played well enough to win," said Gordon. "I felt that the turning point in the game was our goal-line stand just prior to the end of the first half.

"We stopped them on our two after they had six consecutive shots at us," Gordon added.

Most of the defensive heroics were provided by linebacker Jerry Cooke, tackle Greg Potulski, middle guard Jim Hendrian and defensive ends Rick Burns and Tom Jurewicz.

Grand Rapids had the edge in total yardage, 236 to 193 but the Rockets buckled down when they had to. Lee picked up 68 yards with his seven rushes and passed once for a five-yard TD.

Epley tops at Wayne

Westland's Randy Epley, who starred as a prep griddier at Livonia Franklin, was named as the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference's "Defensive Player of the Week."

The senior co-captain for Wayne State University earned the recognition in last week's winning performance against Northwood.

Salem shuts out Belleville, 35-0

Rocks roll to 3rd win over touchdownless Tigers

Plymouth Salem won the "paper playoff" in football three years ago.

It appears that Coach Tom Moshimer now wants the real thing: the Class A state football crown.

And the Rocks are doing everything possible and right in the early stages of the season as they erupted for three touchdowns in the second quarter to rout Belleville 35-0 Friday night.

It was Plymouth's third consecutive — second in the Suburban 8 Conference — victory of the season. The triumph was also ample testimony that the Rocks are to be seriously considered as a contender for a regional playoff berth as well as the league title.

"I feel we have to keep on improving to stay in the race," said Moshimer whose team takes on Redford Union Friday night.

Friday is also homecoming for the Rocks.

The first 12 minutes of the game was a typical hard-hitting Belleville-Salem matchup. But it turned into a mismatch in the second quarter with Belleville helping in its own demise. The Rocks took over the ball late in the first quarter on the Belleville 35-yard line after Larry Pingston got off a bad punt.

Salem quarterback Rick Hewlett then ripped off 21 yards and three plays later the Rocks maneuvered the 5-yard line where Chris Ritchey scored the go-ahead touchdown.

Dave Basierbe, kicked the extra point and the Rocks had enough on the board to win it. However, the league-leaders didn't stop there. After the ensuing kickoff, the Rocks recovered a fumble on the second play from scrimmage and they were poised for attack again, this time at the Belleville 21.

It took them seven plays, though, before Hewlett and Kirk Lewis combined on a scoring 5-yard pass. That gave the visitors a 13-0 lead after Basierbe missed the second PAT opportunity.

Salem built up the margin to 21-0 late in the second quarter as Hewlett engineered a 66-yard drive that culminated in Dave Brooker's 10-yard touchdown run.

Ritchey then chipped in the two-point conversion.

The Rocks finished off the hosts with single TDs in each of the final two quarters. A Hewlett-to-John Broderick aerial that covered eight-yards accounted for the winner's third quarter score and Paul Dillon's one-yard plunge rounded out the scoring. Basierbe kicked both point-after in the second half.

"We knew we were playing a good ball club," said Belleville Coach Pat Stokes. "And we felt we had to do things without making errors.

"Unfortunately, we made too many mistakes, especially in that first quarter," Stokes continued. "It's been disappointing and we can't make excuses because we felt by this time our boys would have put it together."

Belleville got its mileage from running back Kelvin Patterson who rushed 26 times for 105 yards. Hewlett countered with 16 carries that resulted in 114 yards while Dillon had eight carries for 104 yards.

Belleville's middle guard, Brent Verrot, counted 22 tackles — the best individual performance by a Tiger defender this season while Tom Rizzo also earned a lot of consideration on defense.

Statistically, Salem had the edge in first downs 10-9 and in total yardage 322 to 210, while the Rocks ground game produced 288 yards to the Tigers' 189.

Belleville had four penalties for 28 yards and Salem six for 60.

Belleville will have its hands full again this week as they head for Dearborn to face the undefeated co-champs at 4 p.m. The Tigers were the only team to defeat the Panthers last year.

Salem hopes to get back running back Bob Waite this week. Waite was injured in the opener at Livonia Franklin.

Robichaud routs Inkster for 3rd grid victory

Morgan scores 2 TDs en route to 40-6 triumph

BOB YAUCK
Best start ever

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Robichaud built up its image as a Class B area football power Friday, winning its third consecutive game of the season at the expense of a listless Inkster.

Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs broke a scoreless first quarter by putting 16 points on the board in the second 12 minutes, then went on to a lopsided 40-6 victory over the hosts. It was the worst defeat ever by an Inkster grid team to its neighboring rivals.

"We knew that they (Robichaud) had a fine football team," said Inkster Coach Arnice James. "We're experienced and that definitely showed in the second half. However, we got some good and solid defensive performances, namely, from Dennis Fry, Krufus Walker and Lyndel Knight.

"I also felt that Yauck (Robichaud's coach) was trying to pour it on this young team," Coach James continued.

Inkster will head for Willow Run Friday night in search for their first victory in three starts, while Robichaud will be at home for the first time this season. They'll be hosting River Rouge, a SAC opponent.

Inkster averted the shutout against Robichaud in the closing minutes when John Stevenson went off tackle and scored from five yards out. The Vikings failed to get the extra point.

Up to that point it was Robichaud's game.

Michael Morgan plunged one-yard for the initial Robichaud touchdown.

That capped a sustained drive which ended early in the second quarter. Then, Morgan scooped up the ball after a broken play to score the two-point conversion.

Inkster gave Robichaud a two-point safety in the next series when the center, on a fourth down and long yardage situation, sailed the ball over the punter's head into the Viking endzone.

Robichaud drove the free kick back and Morgan chalked up his second touchdown of the game on a 5-yard jaunt. The Bulldogs elected to go for the two-point conversion and fell short.

Ahead 16-0 at halftime, Robichaud exploded for two TDs in each of the final quarters. An Alvin Carter-to-Darryl Gore pass for 26-yards accounted for the first touchdown of the second half and Roger McGhee's five-yard run produced the second score.

Carter accounted for the fifth touchdown, capitalizing upon a broken play and going 15-yards for the six-pointer, then sophomore Warren Dorsey leaped over the Inkster defense and went five-yards to the end zone for the final Robichaud score.

Of Robichaud's 220-yards on the ground, Morgan grinded out 74 on 16 carries, while Carter picked up 51 on eight tries and McGhee had 45 on eight carries.

Bob Yauck, the coach's son, counted eight solo tackles which included three sacks of the quarterback. He also blocked a punt. Carter picked up his third interception of the season.

Wayne edges R. O. Kimball to win Shrine CC crown

Close one:

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Wayne Memorial and Coach Ernie Righetti found a reasonable facsimile of a cross country opponent last week as the undefeated Zebras eked out a one-point victory over Royal Oak Kimball in their initial appearance at the Shrine Invitational.

The invitational was held during inclement weather Saturday. The runners sloshed their way over a 3-mile course located in Marshbank Park in West Bloomfield.

Wayne's team total, 43 points, was only one-point better than second place Royal Oak Kimball. The six other competing teams finished far off the pace.

Birmingham Brother Rice was third with 106 points, while Westland

John Glenn was fourth (115), Redford Bishop Borgess, fifth, (121), Detroit Catholic Central, sixth (126), Bloomfield Hills Andover, seventh (153) and Harper Woods Notre Dame, was eighth, with 233 points.

Wayne's Rick Blaha continued to set the pace as he won his second major invitational of the year. The taciturn senior was clocked in 15:20. Blaha recently won the Schoolcraft Invitational.

Righetti also received fourth and fifth places from Doug Tolson and Ron Mason, while Paul Spencer was seventh, Mark Michalowski was 26th and Tim Quaintance was 31. Gary Dyke crossed the finish line 45th.

"We were really fortunate to win this one," Righetti said. "We had a few runners slip and fall on the rain-soaked grass and another runner who took a wrong turn.

"And the meet showed that we do lack depth in No. 4 and 5 slots". Righetti continued. "Of course, we're very happy to win, but I feel we're going to have to improve to meet the challenge in the state offered by the likes of Grand Blanc."

Glenn's top performer at Shrine was Jim Kancierz who turned in a 16:33 — good enough for 16th place, while Jim Barber and Mark Johnson were 19th and 23rd, respectively, and Randy Gabrys and Paul Stephens were 27th and 30th.

Other Glenn finishers were Jim Green, 33rd and Tom Andrews, 39th (17:39).

Earlier in the week Wayne warmed up for the invitational by shutting out arch-rival, Westland John Glenn 15-41 as Blaha led the Zebras sweep with a 15:35. Tolson, Mason, Spencer and Quaintance were the next runners to cross the finish line.

Glenn will make a long journey North this weekend to compete in the 10th Annual Optimist Invitational at Alpena High School.

Coach Jerry Szukaitis's runners will be in a field that includes Bangor John Glenn, Bridgeport, Flint Kearsley, Flushing, Midland, Midland Dow, Oscoda, Petoskey, Rogers City, Saginaw Eisenhower, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

"There is a flock of good cross country teams in this meet," Szukaitis said, "and it'll be good experience for us."

Meanwhile, Wayne will begin the defense of its Great Lakes 8 Conference title on Thursday as it heads for Dearborn to take on Fordson High.

A bright spot

Inkster's Lyndell Knight (white jersey) goes high to snare this missile from quarterback Tony Smith. The reception was one of the bright spots in a rather dismal day for the Vikings who lost to their arch-rivals, Robichaud, 40-6, in the Suburban Athletic Conference football opener for both schools.

Touchdown bound

With Inkster defenders Marcus Wood (54), Alvin Martin (74) and Dennis Fry (58) hounding him, Robichaud tailback Michael Morgan (35) heads into the Viking end zone for one of his two touchdowns Friday afternoon. Morgan led the Dearborn Heights gridders to a one-sided 40-6 victory over their natural rivals for their third consecutive victory. Robichaud comes home Friday to host conference rival River Rouge, while Inkster travels to Willow Run.

Spartan golfers set record

Despite a record-setting effort by Cherry Hill golfers, the Spartans lost a 144-153 non-conference match to a hot-swinging Thurston club last week.

"It was our best performance of the season," said Cherry Hill Coach Bill Kelley, "but it wasn't good enough. Thurston is among the top 10 best teams in the state. They were too much for us."

Thurston's 144 was an even-par team performance at the Dearborn Heights-based Warren Valley golf course.

The Spartans' previous best was 155 also set at the Warren Valley Course.

Kerry Doyle and Kevin Ryan shot even par golf (36s) for nine holes to lead the Spartans, while Richard Rusylo and Tim Hoffer carded 39 and 42, respectively.

Cherry Hill will carry a 2-2 Tri-River Conference record into this week's action as they have beaten Melvindale 178-180 and Schafer 167-184 while losing to Riversdale 175 to 168 and to Garden City West, 183-184.

"We have the potential of becoming the best team that I have ever coached," said Kelley who is in his fifth year as head coach at Cherry Hill. "But we're erratic right now."

"From one meet to the next, the West to Thurston, we shot a difference of 30 strokes," Kelley continued. "We need to get some consistency in our game."

GC East nips Franklin

Cross country meets don't come any closer than the one defending co-champ, Garden City East and challenger Livonia Franklin were involved in last week.

East built up its title stocks by nipping Franklin 29-30 for its second Northwest Suburban Conference meet. It was Franklin's opening conference run.

"You can't let a team go 1-2-3 on you," said Franklin coach Bob Holmes, "and that's what East did to us. We had the next seven places."

East's Kevin Kitz and Jeff Perrine decided to cross the finish line together as the duo covered the Franklin 3-mile course in a record 15:46. Then teammate Tim Phillips sealed the victory with a third place finish.

Phillips led Franklin runners Ron Klinefelter, Dabe Dawson, Wally Niemiec, Matt Killinger, Chuck Jennett, across the finish line.

Holmes pointed out that East has established itself as the team to beat with Thurston close behind.

"East and Thurston have the frontrunners while John Glenn and us have balance," Holmes continued. "There is no question in my mind that the league this year is very balanced."

Franklin will get a look at Thurston next as the two Northwest Suburban rivals clash Thursday at 4 p.m.

Chiefs planning hockey 'playoff' for Midget teams

The Chiefs, Wayne's entry in the Great Lakes Junior "A" Hockey League, are planning a "special playoff" for various Midget Open teams in the area. Outstanding players from various midget teams will be given a chance to compete for a team and individual prizes in a contest called, "Playoff".

The contest will consist of shooting, skating, passing and goal-tending. With the conclusion of the "Playoff", a trophy and awards will be presented to the top goalie and forward or defenseman, and also to the team they represent.

"We will run this program during the intermission of our games between periods at all of our home games," said Patrick Behen, the Chiefs' coach. "We plan on making up a schedule and sending it to the teams."

The Chiefs' home games are scheduled for Monday nights. They have a few Saturday and Sunday afternoon matches.

Those interested should contact Lorne McKay at 425-1421.

Because cars are less prone to knock in higher altitudes, octane levels in mountain regions are generally lower than elsewhere. For example, in the southern mountain states, according to the latest nationwide survey, regular gasoline had an average octane number of 92.4. To achieve the equivalent performance, in the New England states for instance, a similar grade gasoline there had an octane number of about 94.9. Within a given region, however, brands of gasoline of the same grade seldom vary by more than one or two octane points.

Churchill clips Canton, 7-0

Blocked punt paves way to 1st win

While Livonia Churchill was forced to make some quick adjustments in their offensive machine, Plymouth Canton hasn't found a tough gut runner to spark its offense and the result when the two met Friday was a defensive duel.

Churchill managed to win the Western Six Conference opener 7-0 and snap a two-game losing streak. Meanwhile, Canton continued its frustrations, sustaining its third loss of the season.

Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner had to come up with a quarterback quick when senior signal-caller Ron Nutter and his family moved out of the school district to Farmington. "We moved Rick Coppola into the QB slot and he did a commendable job," Kaestner said.

Churchill scored what proved to be the only touchdown of the game of Canton's specialty squad. Terry Madden blocked Frank Kellogg's punt and Mike Devlin scooped up the loose ball and ran it 33-yards for the touchdown.

Then, Chris Clegg booted the extra point.

"Both ball clubs hit well but neither could generate much offense," said Canton's Dave Schuele whose Chiefs will carry an 0-3 record into Friday's game at Waterford Mott. "We had the opportunities to score, but didn't use them."

One of those opportunities came in the first series of plays when defensive end Kyle Heaton recovered a Churchill fumble at the Charger 37-yard line.

Quarterback Doug Smith used fullback Rusty Mandle and Jerry Simons to advance the Chiefs to the Churchill 12-yard line where they gave the ball up on downs.

"We scouted Churchill earlier in the season and they gave us a different set of defenses to look at in this game," Schuele noted. "Our offense didn't make the adjustment."

Simons was Canton's leading ballcarrier as he chalked up 43 yards in 11 carries. The Chiefs received excellent defensive efforts from linebacker Dave Tanner, halfback Darryl Raumsuer, Dennis Howell, and James Koch who came off the bench and handles one of the linebacker's slots.

Churchill now awaits Farmington Harrison, the defending league champ.

"Though they aren't the power they were a year ago," Kaestner noted, "they have an excellent team and we have to respect them."

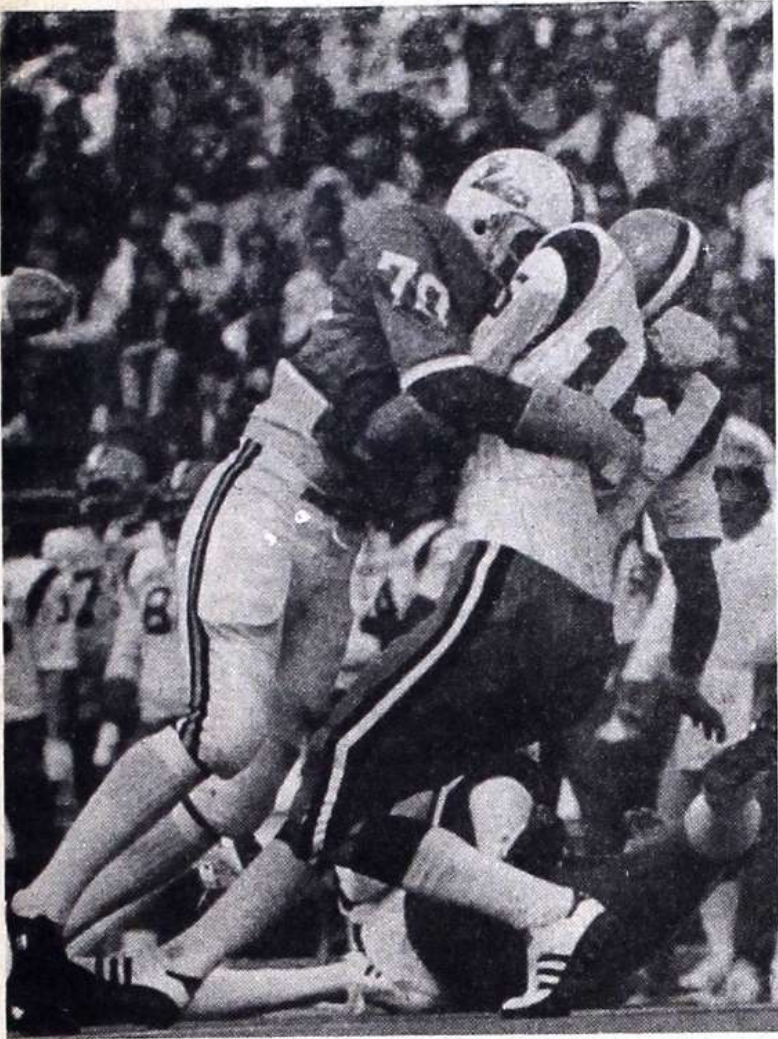

The game was scheduled to be played under the lights, however, the lighting fixtures have not been completed at the Livonia high school's field. The game will be held at 4 p.m.

Churchill had the edge in first downs on Canton 6-5 and total yardage 173-121. Churchill chalked up 142 yards on the ground and 31 in the air and fumbled away one of two mishandled balls. The Chargers also lost one pass via an interception and were penalized 100 yards.

Canton rushed for 121 and passed for 47 yards. The Chiefs fumbled three times and lost two of them. They also lost a pass to an interception while they were slapped with 60-yards in penalties.

Doran Mason was the top performer for the winners as he amassed 117 yards on 19 carriers.

Ex-All-Area griddier, senior defensive tackle Daryl Gooden (70) of Romulus makes a crushing tackle on All-American candidate Mark Miller in Grand Valley's 17-6 loss to Bowling Green University on Sat., Sept. 10. The highly regarded Falcons were shut out by Gooden and his teammates in the second half, but the Grand Valley offense just couldn't put enough points on the board for the victory. Grand Valley took on Michigan Tech at home last Saturday.

Medvez sets the pace in cross country meet

With one of their key runners back in the lineup, Belleville coasted past Monroe 21-36 in a non-conference cross country meet.

Steve Medvez, hampered during the early stages of the season because of a leg injury, appeared fully recovered as he toured the 3-mile course in 16:04 to pace the Tigers' victory.

Bob Oakley chipped in with a second place (16:22), while Mark Sienko was third and Darryl Thompson finished fifth for Coach Dave Medley's Tigers.

Other Belleville contributions came from Jeff Locke (ninth), Joe Poole (10th) and Gary Roach (11th).

"We're coming along fine," said Medley whose over-all record stands at 2-1. "Medvez looks as if he recovered while there is a real dogfight for fifth and sixth positions."

Belleville opens the 1977 Suburban 8 Conference campaign this week, taking on the Jaguars at Allen Park on Thursday.

Medley sees the Dearborn domination of the sport in the league coming to an end.

"Looking over the Schoolcraft results, I think there is more balance than ever in our league," Medley commented. "I really am looking for a dogfight this year for the title."

Glenn gals coast in debut

Sweeping 10 of 11 events, Westland John Glenn's girls' swimming team overpowered Willow Run 59-24 in a nonleague meet last week.

It was the opening meet for Coach Jean Garbus' tankers who dominated the competition.

"We got off to a good start," said Coach Garbus, "but the tough ones are ahead of us. We have to keep on improving to win."

Glenn opens the Northwest Suburban Conference phase of the season Tuesday night to North Farmington, the defending league champ. The meet is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Where's the offense?

Veteran Belleville High football Coach Pat Stokes (scratching his head) is probably — and rightfully — pondering the century old question: "Where's the offense?" The Tiger skipper made some adjustments last week and hopes of scoring Friday against Dearborn High. However, Dearborn is undefeated and is considered the team to beat for the Suburban 8 Conference title. Belleville takes an 0-3 record into the game.

Grissom's World

Let's get back to the basics

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

I remember when all it took to go fishing was for my father to say, "Let's go fishing." We'd grab our rods and reels, small tackle box, landing net of doubttable ability, and our cartop aluminum boat with a dented bottom.

Fifteen minutes flat and we were off.

Today I just got off the phone after talking for over an hour to Gary Marshall of the Michigan Travel Bureau. We were setting up a trip to Bois Blanc Island for October.

This was his third call and there are still some details to be worked out for our second trip to the island. This time it's to be a combination bowhunting and fishing trip. Some of the country's leading sportswriters are coming and the logistics necessary to arrange this trip would boggle the mind of an Army Quartermaster.

It got me to thinking what ever happened to basics?

I would never dream of fishing without my depth-temperature indicator, and my graph recording sonar is an absolute necessity.

Add seven rods and reels, marker bouys, landing net, and five tackle boxes and I'm ready to go.

It's strange how many things one accumulates over the years that you just can't do without. My first rod and reel, tackle box, and my entire collection of lures didn't cost as much as my latest 13 1/2 foot custom rod.

I used to have a five and a half foot solid glass rod that I used for everything from bluegills to muskies. Now I have a rod for everything; boat rods for light line, boat rods for heavy line, surf rods, river rods, fly rods, rods for single egg fishing, and even a rod that I only use to fish Tippy Dam during high water.

Where do you stop?

Seems like I just keep collecting more and more each year.

Lures are another thing. Five tackle boxes full and I'm still collecting. I've got lures that the only thing that they've ever caught is me. I guess that I must be a "lure-aholic."

Sometimes I think about quitting, that I've finally reached the saturation point on tackle. Then I remember the families of all the tackle company workers, and well.....

With the fall salmon fishing just entering its peak, trying to decide which area to fish has really become a problem.

The west-side of the state has firmly been established as prime fishing grounds; the east side of the state is really coming on strong, and now after going over my fish plant records I find that over 200,000 chinook and 180,000 coho are due to return to the Huron River at Flat Rock.

Since snagging is allowed there, I know that I will scratch river fishing at Flat Rock from my plans, but what about trolling the mouth of the river.

Should this fishery develop in Lake Erie, it is going to be very hard to justify driving up North when quality fishing could be only 30 minutes away.

I guess that this will mean that I will just have to find more time to fish if I want to fish all the places I had originally planned on plus the Huron River.

Let's go Wayne

Wayne's "biggest game" of the young 1977 season will probably be Friday night when Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras place a three-game winning streak on the block against an undefeated Fordson contingent. But there's more at stake in this Great Lakes 8 Conference football opener as the winner of the duel will bolster its chances of reaching the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Region II playoffs. Both teams take 3-0 records into the 8 p.m. scheduled confrontation.

Franklin's 2nd half surge stops GC East

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Armand Vigna can forget about an enervating weekend this season.

The Livonia Franklin head football coach probably thought he had one of those easy ones last week when a late-assembled, injury-plagued Garden City East contingent visited the Joy Road high school last Saturday.

But East, even without senior quarterback Joe Emery gave Vigna and his Patriots a scare for two quarters before surrendering 20-0 in their Northwest Suburban Conference opener.

Emery is out for the season with a shoulder separation.

Now with Thurston, North Farmington, Sterling Heights and Westland John Glenn coming up over a span of the next four weekends, Vigna and his staff can forget about resting.

Franklin broke a scoreless first half with two touchdowns in the third quarter to pull away from the stubborn East defenders who refused to quit.

Dave Bowen scored on a six-yard run for the initial Franklin touchdown. Don Boka kicked the extra point, then, later in the that quarter Jerry Cifor tallied from four-yards out to give the Patriots a 13-point cushion.

Mike Fry's 18-yard run in the fourth quarter accounted for Franklin's final score.

Boka booted two of three extra points and he was foiled on a 23-yard field goal attempt with one second left in the initial half.

East erased another Franklin threat in the third quarter when the Panthers picked off a pass, but on the first play from scrimmage Franklin regained possession of the ball when Mike Broome recovered a fumble on the East six, setting up Bowen's touchdown.

After East failed to go anywhere with the ball, Franklin got it back via a punt, and the Patriots marched 47 yards in seven plays with Cifor scoring on the last play.

Franklin will head for Thurston on Saturday for a 2 p.m. showdown with its league opponent. Though Thurston is winless in three starts, Vigna cautioned that "our two teams always have good games." "They can be troublesome," Vigna said. "I don't know too much about this year's team, but I know they have some size. They are young and therefore will be prone to making mistakes."

"I just hope they don't start straightening things out over there at our expense."

Tiger thrust

When Belleville needs the yardage it turns to junior running back Kelvin Patterson (above) who turned in another 100-plus rushing performance Friday night against Plymouth Salem. However, the Tigers are learning that one man can't do it alone so they are looking to revamp their offense for Friday's game with Dearborn. The Tigers have failed to get on the board this season, going "touchdownless" in 12 quarters.

5 records set Wayne dunks Canton in opener

Wayne Memorial opened up the 1977 girls' swimming season with an impressive 103-69 non-conference victory over Plymouth Canton.

Sweeping eight out of a possible 11 events and setting five new school highs, the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference swim champs displayed poise and power in their opener.

"We looked good," said Coach Jim McPartlin, "but we're far from ready to defend our league title."

McPartlin sees Fordson and Monroe as possible threats to the Zebra crown. Wayne has won the last two championships.

Wayne launched the season with a record-setting effort in the 200-yard medley relay as Sandy Parker, Renee Whitson, Gretchen Batterson and Teri Discher won with a 2:08.5, a Zebra record.

Though she finished second in the 200-yard freestyle, Tracy Batterson's 2:18.1 was also a new record for the event. Canton's Kim Massey touched in first with a 2:10.5 for the event.

Kelly Batterson was clocked in the winning time of 1:01.9 for the 100-yard freestyle, beating younger sister, Gretchen, to the finish.

The Wayne 400-yard freestyle relay team made up the Batterson girls - Tracy and Kelly, Kathy Sanford and Julie Johnston combined for a 4:23.9 to win and eclipse the old mark for the event.

Chiefs open hockey season

With two out-of-the-league victories under their belts and one more non-conference showdown scheduled for Friday, the Wayne Chiefs will open up the 1977-78 Great Lakes Junior "A" Hockey season on Monday.

The Chiefs opening night rival is none other than the Fraser Highlanders who face the Wayne skaters at the Wayne Community Center beginning at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday, the Chiefs will play Sherwood Forest of the Major Metro League at Centaur Arena in Bloomfield Hills at 9 p.m.

Wayne was jarred in the early minutes Sunday by a fast-skating London, Ont. team which scored two goals early but then gave up 9-6 to the Chiefs who came back to take the lead 3-2 at the end of the first period.

Wayne also enjoyed a 5-4 advantage for two periods before tucking away its second victory in as many starts.

Defenseman Jeff Wiewiura fired in two of Wayne's goals while teammates Tracey Price, Mike Warren, Ken Kluz, Pat Behen, Jim Garnier, Ron Shiner and Mike Beers each had one. Shiner also was credited with three assists.

Jim Matthews of the London Diamonds accounted for a hat trick.

Mother & Son

A mother and son tennis combination also proved to be the winning combination in Wayne's mixed doubles tournament recently. Teaming up with her son Todd (at right), Mrs. Lois Beyer (second from right) emerged with a victory over Alicia Gabrys (at left) and Chris Kaczor. The champs turned back their rivals in two sets of 6-3.

Mistakes pave way for Cherry Hill downfall

Melvindale hangs 34-18 loss to Spartan league record

Spotting any football team can cause problems and that's what Cherry Hill had against undefeated Melvindale — problems — last Saturday.

Melvindale capitalized on two Spartan fumbles for early touchdowns and built up a 20-0 lead, then went on to hand Coach Jerry Pawloski's Spartans their first Tri-River Conference football setback, 34-18.

"I felt we did a fairly good job against them," Pawloski commented. "Our specialty teams gave up three of the five TDs and we scored against them, the first team to do so this season."

"We also managed to come up with an excellent passing game," Pawloski continued, "and if we can put together the kind of ground game we got against Schafer and the passing attack we had Saturday, we're going to burn some people yet."

Cherry Hill is preparing to host a homecoming crowd Saturday and its guest for Saturday's festivities is Dearborn Heights Riverside. Though Riverside is 1-2 on the year, its losses are to out-of-the-league rivals Riverview and to Redford St. Mary's.

"Riverside is one of the teams I figured that will be in the thick of the conference title race," Pawloski said, "and I haven't changed my mind."

"They have a veteran team this year and we have a lot of respect for them."

Down 14-0 at the end of the first quarter against Melvindale, the Spartans fell further behind when the Cardinals' picked off a Scotty Dawson screen pass and ran it back 40-yards for their third touchdown.

Cherry Hill came back midway in the second quarter thanks to a pair of touchdown passes by Dawson who combined with tight end Jon Sweet on a 60-yard scoring missile, then later picked out Aaron Gregory for a 23-yard TD toss.

Both Cherry Hill conversion attempts failed.

What killed the Spartans, according to Pawloski, was the first minute after the second half kickoff. The Spartans fumbled the kickoff and the Cardinals recovered on the Spartan one-yard line.

They scored on the very first play from scrimmage, lifting them to a 27-12 advantage.

Again, Cherry Hill refused to quit. Floyd Simmons intercepted a Melvindale pass and ran it back 85-yards for a record-setting touchdown. But that is where the Spartan offense stopped. Melvindale nailed down the decision with a fourth period touchdown.

Dawson went to the air 34 times — (has to be a Cherry Hill record) and connected on 10 of the missiles for 158 yards and two touchdowns. Simmons' 85-yard return of the interception also is a school record.

Darnell Green also intercepted a Melvindale pass.

"We were able to throw the ball as we planned," Pawloski noted, "but our game plan was marred by a lot of mistakes, and you can't make them against a team of Melvindale's caliber."

Heartbreaker:

Shrine title dream shattered with Spartan harrier injury

Coach Joe Grasley and Cherry Hill runners watched their hopes of winning the Class B Division of the Royal Oak Shrine Cross Country title shattered Saturday as one of their key performers was hurt less than a quarter-mile from the finish.

The injury to Scott Johnston, who was running 18th in the field, caused the Spartans to withdraw.

Cherry Hill finished third team-wise in a field of 18 teams. The Spartans garnered 111 points. The Spartans trailed Troy, which had 95 points, and Divine Child, with 100, in the final standings. Bishop Gallagher was fourth and Southgate Schafer was fifth.

"It was really a heartbreaker," Grasley said. "We were very close to winning it when Johnston was forced to withdraw. We think he suffered an Achilles' heel injury."

The Spartans had the third best runner at the invitational as Ramon Lara churned a 15:58 over the slippery 3-mile course. His next teammate, Keith Leverton, was 12th (16:40 and Mike Michno wound up 14th (16:41).

Cherry Hill also had 32nd (John Ireland), 50th (Kurt Smith) and 53rd (Dave Markley) runners at the meet.

Grasley pinpointed his team's problems "to the lack of depth."

"The lack of a strong sixth place runner was the difference in the first and third place at Shrine," Grasley noted.

The Spartans had one satisfaction, though. They finished ahead of Schafer, the only team to beat them in the Tri-River Conference this year.

Earlier in the week the defending league champs warmed up for Shrine with a 15-50 romp over Melvindale. Johnston led the Spartan "slam" with a 16:24. He was followed by teammates Leverton, Smith, Ireland, Markley, Bodner and Jim Eiben who nailed down the next six places.

Schafer beat Cherry Hill 25-30 and a lost shoe was instrumental in the Spartan setback. Smith lost the shoe early in the race and decided to run without it. He finished 12th which hurt the Cherry Hill cause.

Lara placed third (16:20) and Spartan runners Leverton and Michno were fourth and sixth respectively while Ireland was eighth.

"It was rainy and wet," Grasley pointed out, "and Smith was stepped on at the start of the race where he lost the shoe."

Tripped up

Scrambling to shake off Robichaud's Bob Yauck, Inkster's Mike Morgan (white jersey) doesn't get far on this play. The Vikings also had their problems against the visiting Dearborn Heights Gridders last Friday and dropped their Suburban Athletic Conference opener, 40-6. Inkster takes on Willow Run Friday night while Robichaud will play host to River Rouge the same day for its first home game of the 1977 campaign.

Romulus seeks volleyballers

The Romulus Parks and Recreation Department has set an October 17 deadline for teams wishing to enter a mixed adult volleyball league.

Games will be played at North Junior High School, Wick Road, beginning Monday, Oct. 24. The league will run on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 to 10 p.m.

Team rosters must include five men and five women and two non-residents will be allowed to compete on a team.

Trophies will be presented to the winning team and there is a $25 registration fee per team. Entry fee must be paid at the recreation department, 36515 Bibbins by 4 p.m., Oct. 21.

There also will be a managerial meeting to discuss rules and procedures on Wed., Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the recreation offices.

Interested players can contact the recreation department at 941-0666, extension 67 for further information.

Baum's finishes 5th at Waltz meet

A Romulus women's softball team, sponsored by Doug Baum of Baum's Funeral Home, finished fifth at the annual Waltz Open Softball Tournament.

Leading Baum's attack in the tournament were Debbie Rashi, who batted 500 and also had five runs batted in; Debbie Dick, who compiled a .500 average, 5 RBIs and drilled two homers; Jane Shaffee, who contributed two home runs and six RBIs and pitcher Bertha Sterling who finished with a .429 batting average.

Rounding out the line-up were: Pat Duke, Vicki Syndlar, Janeal Eberline, Faye Savage, JoLynn DeBusyscher, Connie Rose, Pat Holcomb and Sandy Rodinbaugh.

Also members of the team were: Sherry Lewis, Debbie Moomaw, Linda Rose and Lois Shahan.

Romulus was also represented in the 12-team tournament by Suburban Oil, Captain Nemo's and Meadow Lanes.

Stevenson harriers capture city crown

Livonia has a new cross country king.

Stevenson overcame a sloppy and slippery track Saturday to dethrone two-time city champ, Livonia Churchill, at the annual city meet held at Cass Benton Park.

Stevenson picked up 34 points, beating Franklin, which had 49 for top honors. Churchill finished third with 56, ahead of fourth-place finishing Bentley.

Bentley however produced the individual champ in Dale Hosey who covered the 3-miles in 16:17, easily finishing ahead of the field of 28 varsity runners.

Churchill's Tobin Jones was second. He was clocked in 16:31.

"It hasn't been a very good week for us," said Churchill Coach Dave Westover whose Chargers survived a scare from Walled Lake Western earlier in the week.

"Our times just haven't been coming down the way I have expected them to," Westover added, "and we're in trouble if we don't start improving."

Churchill captured the first two versions of the city meet. The Chargers dynasty in the Western Six Conference also appears in jeopardy.

Churchill opened up its defense of the conference championship last Thursday getting past Western 26-30. It was the closest any league team has ever come of beating the champs.

Jones finished third with a 16:13 run, while Bob Stansberry was fourth (17:25) followed by Flamme, fifth, Gaskell (sixth), and Paul (seventh).

Whether the 1977 Chargers are made of championship material will be known Thursday when Westover's harriers run up against Northville, a team that has serious designs on the title.

Every year at Torch Drive time, we read reports about the generous corporate contributions of the "biggies" — those community-minded giants of the Tri County Area who do so much to make each year's drive more successful than the one before. EARL KEIM REALTY

Home is the place where character is built, where sacrifices for the happiness of others are made, and where love has taken its abode.

A home should be a stockade, a refuge for the flaming arrows of anxiety, tension and worry.

A place to drop your cares, to find happiness and realize the wisdom of simplicity.

A place to gather your family together, where dinnertime can be a time of candlelight, music and conversation, serious and gay. Share a great thought and discuss it. Say a prayer of thankfulness for your blessings.

Home is the place to prepare for tomorrow, that you may go forth as a new person, with a new spirit, to meet triumphantly the challenges of the outside world.

We here at KEIM have many houses - but we need YOU to make them a home.
Call or stop by today to see our fine selections.
